
The Making of the English Middle Class

Business, Society and Family Life in London 1660-1730

Peter Earle

Earle provides the first major study of a neglected yet extremely significant subject: the London middle classes in the period between 1660 and 1730, a period in which they created a society and economy that can be seen with hindsight to have ushered in the modern world. $35.00

John Colet

John B. Gleason

"This is a revisionist work in the best sense of the term. . . . A good, fresh study of Colet is sorely needed, and Professor Gleason's work fills the gap."—Richard L. Greaves,
Florida State University, Tallahassee

$47.50

The Kelmscott Press

A History of William Morris's
Typographical Adventure

William S. Peterson

Drawing on unpublished letters and diaries, Peterson argues that Morris's curious typographical experiment may force us to reflect on the meaning of the fascinating, yet morally ambiguous, technology which threatens today to envelop the world. $45.00

England, Their England

Commentaries on English
Language and Literature

Denis Donoghue

New in paper—"The range and breadth of Donoghue's criticism has always been remarkable, but nowhere more so than in this, the 'English' volume of his essay trilogy."
—Marjorie Perloff

$12.95 paper

Three new titles in The New Historicism: Studies in Cultural Poetics—

Literature, Politics, and Culture in Postwar Britain

Alan Sinfield

"A major work of cultural criticism in the British Marxist tradition. It makes a significant 'intervention' in the very thing Sinfield is talking about, the social construction of literary and political values. It will be controversial, but I think it's brilliant."

—Patrick Brantlinger, author of
Rule of Darkness

$45.00 cloth, $14.95 paper

The Rites of Knighthood

The Literature and Politics of Elizabethan Chivalry

Richard C. McCoy

The reign of Queen Elizabeth I witnessed a spectacular revival of chivalric ideals and practices. McCoy analyzes this phenomenon as an ideological solution to one of the most volatile contradictions of Elizabethan politics: the clash between honor and obedience. $27.00

Literary Practice and Social Change in Britain, 1380-1530

Edited by Lee Patterson

As a traditional site of historicist practice, medieval studies is particularly well-placed to benefit from the recent reemergence of historicism in literary studies. But this new "critical historicism" is different in both method and interests from past forms—a fact well illustrated by this collection. $38.00

At bookstores or order toll-free 1-800-822-6657. Visa & MasterCard only.

University of California Press • Berkeley 94720

War, Politics and Change

Party and Politics, 1830-1852

Robert Stewart

The nature and significance of the early Victorian 'revolution in government' has been greatly debated by historians. Stewart offers his own view on different perspectives by analyzing the battle for reform and the power struggle between the great landowners and the representatives of free trade.

1989, 137 pp. ISBN 0-312-02495-9 $39.95

Macaulay

Owen Dudley Edwards

Historians on Historians

Macaulay's historical works have delighted readers and irritated academics ever since they were written. Edwards argues for Macaulay's serious purpose in writing - the drive to address the widest possible audience, and to draw his readers into sharing his own passionate love of learning and history.

1989, 192 pp. ISBN 0-312-02727-3 $24.95

Namier

Linda Colley

Historians on Historians

"Another entry in St. Martin's Historians on Historians series...Colley seeks to bring Namier back to his rightful place of esteem....one of the best introductions to Namier..." — Booklist

1989, 144 pp. ISBN 0-312-02854-7 $24.95

Britain and the French Revolution, 1789-1815

Edited by H.T. Dickinson

The essays in this collection examine the French Revolution from a contemporary British perspective. While observers were sympathetic to the ideals that sparked the Revolution, they remained fearful of French attempts to export the violence.

1989, 299 pp. ISBN 0-312-02840-7 $39.95

The Emancipist

Daniel O'Connell 1830-47

Oliver MacDonagh

The second volume of the biography of Daniel O'Connell tells the story of his life from the achievement of Catholic Emancipation in 1829 to his death.

1989, 384 pp. ISBN 0-312-03711-2 $35.00

St. Martin's Press

Scholarly and Reference Division ◊ 175 Fifth Avenue ◊ New York, NY 10010
To Order call toll-free 1-800-221-7945
