New Haven, Connecticut, will be the site of the twenty-fifth annual conference of the Economic History Association. Meetings will be held from Wednesday, September 1, through Friday, September 3, 1965.

The full program has been announced for the plenary sessions and sectional meetings of the Third International Economic History Conference at Munich, August 23 through 27, 1965.

The two general sessions will be devoted to "Capital Investment in Modern Economic Growth," a paper presented by Simon Kuznets, and to "Rural Population in the Countryside in Europe after the Eleventh Century." Convenor of the first session will be K. E. Berrill, Cambridge; convenors of the second, J. Le Goff and R. Romano, L'École Pratique des Hautes Études, Paris.

Themes and convenors of sectional meetings are to be as follows:

1. Invention and diffusion in technology with particular reference to the textile industries and metallurgy. R. Easterlin, University of Pennsylvania.
2. Agricultural production and productivity. J. Meuvret, Paris; M. Zytkowicz, Toruń, Poland.
3. The economic significance of mass consumption and luxury consumption in preindustrial society. W. Kula, Warsaw.
4. Deserted villages. J. Le Goff and R. Romano, Paris.
5. The structure of enterprise. H. Kellenbenz, Cologne-Lindenthal, German Federal Republic.
6. The cost of health and economic development. M. Perlman, University of Pittsburgh.
7. Demography and economics. D. E. C. Eversley, Birmingham.
8. The place of economic history in the study of classical antiquity. M. I. Finley, Cambridge.
9. The formation of an industrial working class. A. Klima, Prague.
10. The food supplies of large towns since the end of the middle ages. F. Lütge, Munich.
11. Regional underdevelopment. A. Caracciolo, Rome.
12. Wages. R. Romano, Paris.
13. The instruments of international commerce. K. Glamann, Copenhagen.
14. Taxation and public debts as factors in economic growth. A. de Maddalena, Milan.

15. The social distribution of property. H. J. Habakkuk, Oxford; M. Pachuto, Moscow.

Further information may be obtained about the general organization of the conference from either H. J. Habakkuk, All Souls College, Oxford, England, or from J. Le Goff, École Pratique des Hautes Études, 20 rue de la Baume, Paris 8, France. The registration fee of DM 15 should be sent before March 31, 1965.

Applications are invited for the Eileen Power Memorial Studentship in Social and Economic History, for the year beginning October 1965, at the London School of Economics and Political Science.

Postgraduate candidates for the studentship are asked to submit, with their application, all relevant personal and academic particulars, the names and addresses of three referees, and a brief scheme for study. Other qualifications being equal, preference will be given to a candidate undertaking research in the economic or social history of some country other than his own usual residence.

There are no printed application forms, but letters of application should be received not later than April 5, 1965, at the office of the Registrar, London School of Economics and Political Science, Houghton Street, Aldwych, London W.C.2. The studentship, valued at a minimum of £600, will be awarded in June.

Faculty members and students who are pursuing research in the field of labor history are invited to send information about such research to the editors of Labor History for compilation and publication. Relevant information, including the subject of research and the researcher's academic affiliation, should be sent to Professor Albert A. Blum, School of Labor and Industrial Relations, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan.
