The Search for Authenticity in Modern Japanese Literature

HISAAKI YAMANOUCHI

Dr Yamanouchi traces the development of the Japanese novel during the last hundred years and examines the tensions that writers have felt between the impact of the West and the claims of their native tradition. He demonstrates the results of this tension in the literature, and shows how it goes a long way to explain why the careers of so many novelists have ended in mental breakdown or suicide. £8.50 net

INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

The Middle East in China's Foreign Policy 1949-77

YITZHAK SHICHOR

This is the first comprehensive analysis of China's Middle Eastern policy. Dr Shichor argues that, far from playing a marginal role in Chinese calculations, the Middle East has always been seen as the key battleground for the struggle between the superpowers, and therefore as an area of crucial importance for China. £14.00 net

The Cambridge History of China

Volume 11: Late Ch'ing, 1800-1911, Part 2

Edited by JOHN K. FAIRBANK and KWANG-CHING LIU

As the companion to Volume 10, this volume surveys the persistence and deterioration of the old order in China during the nineteenth century. The contributors focus on commercial and technological growth, foreign relations, the stimulation of Chinese intellectual life by the outside world, and military triumphs and disasters. £35.00 net

Hong Kong

Stability and Change: A Collection of Essays

H. J. Lethbridge

Hong Kong has survived an extraordinary number of crises since its foundation as a British Colony and imperial outpost in 1841. This book takes as its main theme the nature of Anglo-Chinese relations within the colony prior to the Japanese invasion in 1941. The various topics, which range from cadets to the European working class, from the nature of the Chinese community to the hierarchies of the European population, are brought together in a long introduction. £14.50

The Ascendency of Congress in Uttar Pradesh 1926–1934

A Study in Imperfect Mobilization

Gyanendra Pandey

This book analyses the nature and extent of the nationalist movement in Uttar Pradesh during a nine-year span in what may be called its popular phase. The author seeks to isolate the elements making for continuity and change, and, in the process, tests the validity of other interpretations of the movement. £6.25

Dayananda Saraswati

His Life and Times

Jos T. F. Jordens

This biography interprets Dayananda as an integral part of the vigorous atmosphere of nineteenth century India, influencing and being influenced by the ideas of his age. Through a lively account of the chief events of his life, traced from contemporary documents and in particular his copious writings, it links the growth of his ideas to the man, his life, and his times. £8.50

Gandhi and Nehru

B. R. Nanda, P. C. Joshi, and Raj Krishna

This work contains three essays dealing with the Nehru-Gandhi relationship. The first examines the political views of the two leaders, their mutual accommodation to one another despite differences in perspective, and the manner in which Nehru applied some of Gandhi's ideas after independence: the second again emphasizes the interdependence of their relationship in ideological terms: and the third examines their views on industry and economic planning, repudiating the idea of a Nehru-Gandhi polarity. FRANZ STEINER VERLAG GMBH · WIESBADEN

Modern Asian Studies is concerned with the history, geography, politics, sociology, literature, economics and social anthropology of South Asia, South-East Asia, China and Japan.

Contributions should be based on original research or field-work. They should be between 2000 and 8000 words long. Two typed copies should be submitted. Each author will receive twenty-five free offprints of his article and a copy of the Journal in which it appears.

Submission of an article will be taken to imply that it has not been previously published and that it is not on offer to any other publisher. In the interests of authors, copyright is normally assigned to Cambridge University Press. The editor welcomes expression of all shades of opinion, but responsibility for them rests with their authors.

All correspondence should be addressed to Dr Gordon Johnson, Selwyn College, Cambridge CB3 9DQ, England.
