
The Life of Orator Henley

Graham Midgley

This is an attempt to create a full and sympathetic portrait of a man who existed only in the savage satiric caricature of Pope's Dunciad and an inferior though more extensive body of destructive attacks throughout and after his life. The work of discovering Henley had added new detail and unusual viewpoints to the many religious, literary, educational, and political scenes in which this notorious figure of eighteenth-century London was constantly engaged. 6 plates £6

Priests and Politicians

Protestant and Catholic Missions in Orthodox Ethiopia 1830–1868

Donald Crummey

The main emphasis of this book is on political inter-action: the central role of missionaries in the genesis of modern Afro-European relations; and the apparent motives of Ethiopian leaders in dealing with representatives of an alien society. A variety of missionary strategies is revealed and discussed. 5 plates 3 maps £4

The Enjoyment of Scripture

The Law, the Prophets, and the Writings

Samuel Sandmel

While many have written in vague praise of the Bible, Professor Sandmel provides not only a graceful summary of its contents, but also discusses the strengths and weaknesses in the writing. He proves that portions of the Bible are not only great literature, but literature that can still be read today with aesthetic pleasure. £4 OUP New York

The Book of Job in its Time and in the Twentieth Century

Jon Douglas Levenson

This is an analysis and comparison of the biblical story of Job and three modern works derived from it: Wells's The Undying Fire, MacLeish's J.B., and Frost's The Masque of Reason. Paper covers £1.75 Harvard University Press

THE PHENOMENON OF RELIGION

Ninian Smart

Philosophy of Religion Series

This contribution to the distinguished 'Philosophy of Religion' series is an investigation into how religion can be studied scientifically but at the same time with empathy and understanding. It begins with an exploration of the anatomy of religious studies and goes on to consider how one is to treat the object or objects of devotion without being committed either to affirming their existence or their non-existence.
