DO YOU KNOW WHAT YOU ARE MISSING?

You can't afford to miss diagnosing infectious diseases.

Detecting resistance, both known and emerging, is key to treating infectious diseases. How is your microbiology laboratory detecting resistance? More importantly, how will your laboratory prepare for the future and these unusual organisms?

BD BACTEC™ blood culture media has been shown to neutralize antibiotics 68.3% more effectively than competitive systems.¹

"More-serious very major errors (false-susceptible) were detected at rates several fold greater than the acceptable limit² (15-21%) for piperacillin-tazobactam when using some systems other than BD Phoenix™." - Juretschko et al, 2007, JCM, 45:1339

Are you sure you're recovering all your positive blood cultures?

The BD BACTEC™ FX Blood Culture System can provide for increased organism recovery and a fast time to detection facilitating quick and more appropriate therapy.

Has your hospital detected emerging antibiotic resistance?

The BD Phoenix™ Automated Microbiology System incorporates conventional susceptibility testing with state-of-the-art detection providing you with reliable, rapid and accurate results.
