

THE SOCIETY FOR THE PROMOTION OF ROMAN STUDIES

Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU
President: Dr. Andrew Burnett FBA FSA

The Society, founded in 1910 and based in London, is the leading organisation for all those interested in the study of Rome and the Roman Empire. Its scope is wide, covering Roman history, archaeology, literature and art down to about AD700. It has a broadly based membership, drawn from over 35 countries and from all ages and walks of life. The Society publishes the Journal of Roman Studies, which deals with the Roman world in general, and also Britannia, a journal of Romano-British and connected studies, which includes an annual survey of Romano-British excavations.

The Society maintains with the Hellenic Society and in conjunction with London University's Institute of Classical Studies a joint library of works on classical antiquity. Members resident in or visiting the UK may consult and borrow books belonging to the Institute. Meetings of the Society are held in London, and in other parts of the UK together with other societies. An archaeology conference is held in alternate years, usually at a venue outside London. Triennial conferences with the Hellenic Society and Classical Association are held in either Oxford or Cambridge.

Annual subscriptions: Members and Schools, £46/US $92 for either the JRS or Britannia in print form; £69/US $138 for both. Institutions: £100/US $200 for print and on-line subscription combined. Students: £25/US $50 per journal (on-line only); student membership is open to students registered at any institution of higher education in any country. Life membership for members over 65 with five years' membership, £450 or US $900. Members can access the on-line archive of back volumes of the Society's journals via JSTOR for an extra £10/$15 p.a.

THE CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION

The Classical Association has a worldwide membership and is open to all who value the study of the languages, literature and civilisations of ancient Greece and Rome. It creates opportunities for friendly exchange and cooperation among classicists, encourages scholarship through its journals and other publications, and supports classics in schools and universities. Every year it holds an annual conference, and sponsors branches all over the country which put on programmes of lectures and other activities.

The Classical Association has c. 3,500 members. The subscription for 2011 is £17/$34 (with a discount of £2 for payment by direct debit), life membership is £125/$250, available to those aged 65 or over. Members receive a Presidential Address once a year and a newsletter, CA News, twice a year. They may also subscribe at substantially reduced cost to the Classical Association journals Classical Quarterly, Classical Review, and Greece and Rome.

Applications for membership and subscriptions (cheques payable to 'The Classical Association') should be sent to the Executive Secretary, Classical Association, Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU; telephone +44 (0)20-7862-8706; E-mail: office@classicalassociation.org

The Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies was founded in 1879 to advance the study of Greek language, literature, history, art and archaeology in the Ancient, Byzantine and Modern periods. Membership is open to all and there is a reduced rate for students.

MEMBERSHIP RATES

Rates are as follows: full members £47, £46 for those who pay by direct debit; student associates £25 corporate members £200. Life membership is available at £200 to those over 65 years of age after five years' full membership. Institutional subscriptions are available from Cambridge University Press. Please consult the Society's website for further details (<http://www.hellenicsociety.org.uk>).

PUBLICATIONS

The Journal of Hellenic Studies and Archaeological Reports are published annually and sent to all members of the Society. Back numbers of The Journal of Hellenic Studies and Archaeological Reports may be ordered from the Society.

THE JOINT LIBRARY

The Society helps to maintain the Joint Library in conjunction with the Roman Society and the Institute of Classical Studies. Membership of the Hellenic Society allows the reader to borrow (within the UK) up to four books at a time, either in person or by post.

LECTURES

The Society arranges an annual lecture series in London, and helps to arrange other lectures in collaboration with the various local branches of the Classical Association: a programme of all these lectures is circulated in September to UK members and is posted on the website.

GRANTS

The Society aims to help those engaged in Hellenic Studies at all levels, and to this end it makes grants of various kinds (further details and application forms are available from the website).

- Schools teaching Greek language, history or civilization may apply for grants: generous donations from the A G Leventis Foundation have recently enabled the Society to increase the grants awarded, in number and size.
- Postgraduate students and other scholars engaged in specific areas of research may apply for grants from the Dover Fund.
- Institutions (typically, but not exclusively, universities) may apply for a grant from the Council of the Society, to fund academic conferences and other events.

CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE JOURNAL

Contributions should be anonymised and sent, preferably electronically, to the Editor r.w.brock@leeds.ac.uk, with the subject 'JHS', or to Dr. Roger Brock, Department of Classics, University of Leeds, Leeds LS2 9JT.

A Style guide and further information on submission of copy and illustrations is available on the Society's website. Books for review should be addressed to the Librarian at the Society address. The Journal does not accept unsolicited book reviews.
