Pan-Africanism and Education

A Study of Race, Philanthropy, and Education in the Southern States of America and East Africa

Kenneth James King

This is an analysis of the complex links between Black America and Africa in the period 1880 to 1945. The attempt to pattern politics and education in colonial Africa upon the example of America's Southern States, and to impose United States race relations on Africa was resisted by black intellectuals in America and many of the early nationalists in Africa.

British Policy Towards West Africa

Select Documents 1875–1914 with Statistical Appendices 1800–1914

C. W. Newbury

This volume continues the documentation of British relations with West Africa from the period of the Ashanti war to amalgamation of Nigeria. It includes special sections on the response of African societies to British investment and control, imperial expansion into the interior, jurisdiction and administrative consolidation, the formation of the West African Frontier Force, and economic development. 4 maps £4.50

Africa and its Explorers

Motives, Methods, and Impact

Edited by Robert I. Rotberg

Livingstone, Stanley, Burton, Cameron, Barth, Thomson, Rohlfs, Baker, and Speke, all played a significant role in the opening up of Africa to the Western world. The biographical and geographical essays in this book examine the ways in which each explorer encountered Africa and the Africans. 9 text illustrations 9 maps £3.75 Harvard University Press

Oxford Paperbacks from South Africa

This new series makes available in paperback form outstanding books of southern African and wider interest. It will include paperback editions of new books, published concurrently with boards editions, books long out of print, and books for students and general readers at economic prices.

The first four titles in the series are an abridged edition of The Life and Times of J. H. Hofmeyer, by Alan Paton (£1.80); Townsmen or Tribesmen, by Philip Mayer and Iona Mayer (£1.90); Afrikaans Poems with English Translations edited by A. P. Grove and C. J. D. Harvey (£1.40); and They Were South Africans, by John Bond (£1.20). OUP Southern Africa
