

Classical Studies

Books and Journals from Cambridge University Press

Cambridge is one of the world's leading publishers of research in classical studies, with a list that covers all aspects of enquiry into the ancient world.

Our books are at the forefront of the discipline and have been recognised for their broad-ranging, thought-provoking scholarship.

Our publishing spans the full range of classical enquiry and pedagogy: critical editions of ancient texts, commentaries, literary and historical analysis, classical archaeology, theoretical perspectives, reception studies, course texts, companions and source books.

Notice to Contributors

Contributions within the scope covered by the journal (see inside front cover) are invited and should be sent to either of the Editors. Electronic submission is preferred in either pdf or Word format. Greek or other non-Roman script should be submitted in a unicode font.

Normally contributions should be between 5,000 and 10,000 words in length (inclusive of footnotes and bibliography), though shorter articles will be considered.

Contributors should be sure to keep a copy of the version submitted. Articles are routinely sent to one or more referees for peer review.

Antichthon is part of the Cambridge Core Share initiative that allows authors and subscribers to generate a URL link that can be publicly shared, including on social sharing sites.

Preparation of Copy

Articles should be typed in double spacing. Footnotes should be numbered consecutively and typed in double spacing. Greek quotations should be in Greek script and not transliterated. A translation of longer passages of Greek and Latin should normally be included.

Quotations in Latin should be italicised (or underlined to indicate italics), except for long indented passages; quotations in English, French, German, etc. should be put in single inverted commas. A quotation within a quoted passage has double inverted commas. Single words or self-contained phrases (such as faute de mieux) may be italicised (or underlined to indicate italics). The following should not be italicised: ad loc., ap., c., cf., e.g., ibid., i.e., s.v., viz.

References: For books and articles, the journal will accept either of two methods, the traditional system or a modified “Harvard” system. For details on specific referencing, see http://www.ascs.org.au/antichthon/Antichthon_Guidelines_for_Contributors.pdf.

This journal issue has been printed on FSC-certified paper and cover board. FSC is an independent, non-governmental, not-for-profit organization established to promote the responsible management of the world's forests. Please see www.fsc.org for information.
