

Law & Society Review Condensed Style Sheet

Type manuscripts double-spaced on one side of the paper only. While manuscripts need not conform to this style sheet at the time of submission, all manuscripts must include an abstract, footnotes, and a list of references, and all accepted manuscripts must be revised by the authors to conform to the Review's style. The rules listed below supplement the manuscript information on the inside front cover of the Review. Authors are urged to consult Review issues in volume 26 or later for further illustrations. A detailed style sheet is available from the Editorial Office.

1. Abstracts. All manuscripts should include an abstract of not more than 100 words. No abstracts are required for review essays or comments.
2. Footnotes. Footnotes should be numbered sequentially (except for the author's footnote) and printed on pages immediately following the text (not at the foot of the page). They should contain only substantive comments and additional references not immediately relevant to the text.
3. Tables and Figures. Tables should approximate the appearance of printed tables. Figures should be camera ready; provide originals, not xerographic copies. Tables and/or figures should be placed at the end of the text, after footnotes, appendixes, and references. Their location within the text should be indicated as follows:

Table 1 about here

4. Citations. All notes that consist merely of supporting citations should be placed in parentheses in the text. For example:

In a thoughtful essay, Hayden (1991) . . .

OR

Media stories often portray the civil jury as generous (Daniels & Martin 1986:236; Hans 1989; Huber 1988).

The same general rules apply to footnote text.

5. References. References are placed at the end of the manuscript following the footnotes. The list should contain only those sources actually cited in text or notes. Give authors' names as they appear in the original source. For more than one publication by the same author, list them in chronological order, with the older item first. For more than one publication in one year by the same author, use small (lower-case) letters to distinguish them (e.g., 1970a, 1970b).

BOOKS: Last Name, First Name (year) Title of Book. City: Publisher.

Example: Lerner, Melvin J. (1980) Belief in a Just World. New York: Plenum.

CHAPTER IN EDITED VOLUME:

Example: Glazer, Nathan (1979) "The Judiciary and Social Policy," in L. Theberge, ed., The Judiciary in a Democratic Society. Lexington, MA: Lexington Books.

ARTICLES: Last Name, First Name (Year) "Title of Article," volume number Journal page numbers of article. (Give month or issue number if each issue is separately paginated.)

Examples: Padgett, John F. (1990) "Plea Bargaining in Prohibition," 24 Law & Society Rev. 413-50.

Brill, Steven, & James Lyons ((1986) "The Not-So-Simple Crisis," American Lawyer 12-15 (May).

UNPUBLISHED PAPERS:

Example: Lofquist, William S. (1991) "The Development of Organizational Probation." Presented at American Society of Criminology annual meeting, San Francisco.

All cases cited in text are listed under "Cases Cited" following the References. All statutes cited are listed under "Statutes Cited." For style for cases and statutes, see A Uniform System of Citation.

BECOMING GENTLEMEN

WOMEN, LAW SCHOOL, AND INSTITUTIONAL CHANGE

Lani Guinier, Michelle Fine, and Jane Balin

Question what it means to become qualified, what a fair goal in education might be, and what we can learn from the experience of women law students about teaching and evaluating all students.

The challenge, then, is not to invent new victims or new scapegoats but to mobilize America for the future. What would it take to ensure that all of us can succeed at getting the job done, the problem solved, and the future more secure? —Lani Guinier

“Using empirical and narrative data, Becoming Gentlemen presents a jolting portrait of the experience of women in law school.”

Censorship and Silencing
Practices of Cultural Regulation

Edited by Robert C. Post

An outstanding set of essays—from the perspectives of law, cultural theory, feminist studies, literature, and anthropology—that present dramatic new developments in the conceptualization of censorship, advancing the argument that the state is not the only agent of censorship.

RETHINKING THE NEW DEAL COURT

The Structure of a Constitutional Revolution
BARRY CUSHMAN
"[Cushman's] book is a smooth blend of intellectual and political history; he is equally at home with the nuances of legal doctrine on the Court and the political battles going on outside it. He brings out of the large unruly mass of constitutional cases decided between 1870 and 1937 a strong, clear story, powerful in its simplicity and very persuasive."

REDEFINING EQUALITY

Edited by NEAL DEVINS and DAVISON M. DOUGLAS
"A collection of well-written essays by prominent scholars on hot problems concerning judicial review and equality. [The book] neatly pinpoints many of the complex issues of legal equality that have arisen in the 1990s and presents readers with a variety of perspectives on those questions."

SEX, PREFERENCE, AND FAMILY

Essays on Law and Nature
Edited by DAVID M. ESTLUND and MARTHA C. NUSSBAUM

In this timely, provocative volume, such notable essayists as Susan Moller Okin, Catherine A. MacKinnon, Cass Sunstein, Martha Minow, William Galston, and Sara McLanahan argue positions on sexuality, the family, and the proper role of the law in these areas.

THE IDEA OF HUMAN RIGHTS

Four Inquiries
MICHAEL J. PERRY
"Perry's new book...is in my view the best thing that this unusually thoughtful legal scholar has yet done. It is hardly possible to exaggerate the importance of the central idea that he is pursuing: that to speak, as so many claim to do, of 'human rights' from a purely secular perspective may well not make any sense. His willingness to confront the implications of 'the death of God' is precisely what is absent from so much moral, legal, and political rights talk."—Paul Campos, University of Colorado, Boulder

1998 $29.95

ACCOUNTABILITY FOR HUMAN RIGHTS ATROCITIES IN INTERNATIONAL LAW

Beyond the Nuremberg Legacy
STEVEN R. RATNER and JASON S. ABRAMS
"Ratner and Abrams provide an incisive, knowledgeable, and comprehensive look at the substantive law and legal institutions that inhabit the intersection of international human rights law, international humanitarian law, and international criminal law...A timely and essential resource."

—Richard J. Goldstone, Justice, Constitutional Court of South Africa, and former Prosecutor, International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia
(Oxford Monographs in International Law)
1998 $95.00

THE CONSTITUTION AND THE PRIDE OF REASON

STEVEN D. SMITH
"Smith...follows the 'trail of reason' through generations of constitutional theorists to expose the hubris at the heart of the Enlightenment precepts undergirding the Constitution. His analysis is comprehensive, lively, and even humorous at points as he exposes the deep faith in reason that has characterized constitutional theorizing since the framers gathered in Philadelphia."

SENTENCING MATTERS

MICHAEL TONRY
"Tonry has written the most inclusive and up-to-date study of American sentencing practices now available....Without Michael Tonry, virtually no literature on state sentencing would exist....[This book] is a compendium of the best work of the leading scholar on American sentencing innovations."—Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology

LEGAL STUDIES FROM CHICAGO

THE COMMON PLACE OF LAW

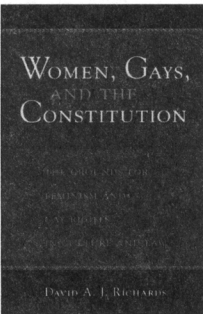

Stories from Everyday Life

Patricia Ewick and Susan S. Silbey

"The Common Place of Law will become a classic in socio-legal studies because it is as perceptive and subtle in its treatment of method as in its findings and insights of substance. Social scientists, scholars of literature, citizens interested in public affairs, civil rights advocates, and students will find this book fascinating and important."—Martha Minow, Harvard Law School

Language and Legal Discourse

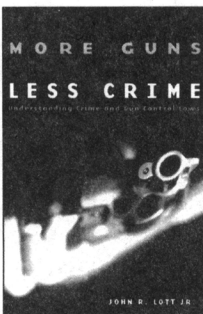

WOMEN, GAYS, AND THE CONSTITUTION

The Grounds for Feminism and Gay Rights in Culture and Law

David A. J. Richards

"Women, Gays, and the Constitution is a rich exploration of the lessons that feminist abolitionists, such as the Grimke sisters, offer for contemporary interpretation of the Reconstruction amendments. This is one of the few works of legal scholarship to advance a serious history-based argument for the Supreme Court's sex discrimination jurisprudence."—William N. Eskridge, Jr., Georgetown University Law Center

Paper $22.00

MORE GUNS, LESS CRIME

Understanding Crime and Gun Control Laws

John R. Lott, Jr.

"Until John Lott came along, the standard research paper on firearms and violence consisted of a longitudinal or cross-sectional study on a small and artfully selected data set with few meaningful statistical controls. Lott's work, embracing all of the data that are relevant to his analysis, has created a new standard, which future scholarship in this area, in order to be credible, will have to live up to."—Dan Polsby, Kirkland & Ellis Professor of Law, Northwestern University

SPEAKING RESPECT, RESPECTING SPEECH

Richard L. Abel

"Courageous and innovative, Speaking Respect, Respecting Speech successfully threads the needle, skirting the excesses of Puritan overregulation of odious speech while refusing to minimize the injuries that racial insult, hardcore pornography, and religious blasphemy can inflict."—Richard Delgado, coauthor of Must We Defend Nazis? Hate Speech, Pornography, and the New First Amendment

JUST WORDS

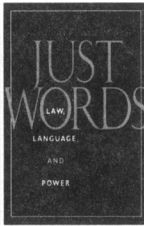

Law, Language, and Power

John M. Conley and William M. O'Barr

"From their careful analyses of discourse in legal settings as diverse as rape trials and divorce mediations, Conley and O'Barr demonstrate convincingly that power relationships pervade legal process. Just Words is both an engaging introduction to the study of legal anthropology, and a model for how such work should be done."—Lawrence M. A GUIDE TO AMERICA'S SEX LAWS

Richard A. Posner and Katharine B. Silbaugh

The first concise compendium A Guide to America's Sex Laws summarizes the laws regulating personal sexual activity. In doing so, it reveals gaps, anachronisms, anomalies, inequalities, and irrationalities, and provides an empirical basis for studies of sexual regulation.

"Fascinating and often surprising facts are concisely documented and conveniently organized in A Guide."—Carlin Meyer, New York Law Journal
