in Environmental Conservation,*
1974–86

Now Available

Compiled by Lynn Curme

Edited by Nicholas Polunin

Foreword by Mostafa K. Tolba

Further to the Notices in recent issues of our Journal, we are pleased to announce that the above Index for 1974–86 (both inclusive) has now been published by the Foundation for Environmental Conservation and will be available from the undersigned at the price (including surface postage) of US $30 or 45 Swiss francs as long as stocks last. It is anticipated that most of our subscribers, at least, will wish to purchase a copy of this pioneering Index which, with its 9,399 entries occupying 159 pages in the format of the Journal, will approach twice the basic length of one of our issues but will cost much less.

Referencing, as it does, surely the vast majority of leading Authors and topics that emerged during the formative years of the environmental–conservational movement or ‘revolution’, this Index should represent a valuable tool for research workers and a propitious guide for writers. This was borne out by our own experience during its years of compilation, when it already proved to be a most useful work of reference, ‘... altogether constituting a unique chronicle of the environmental–conservational concerns of modern times’ (according to the Foreword by the Executive Director of the United Nations Environment Programme, Dr Mostafa K. Tolba).

Furthermore, we hope (but cannot yet quite promise, the Index being still underpriced and ourselves not indestructible), to send free-of-charge if possible to all purchasers of this Index, at approximately two-yearly intervals henceforth, supplements to it—in each case representing a further two-years’ volumes, starting with one as early as possible in 1989 covering the years 1987 and 1988. Meanwhile we have a few complete sets of Environmental Conservation, from its beginning with the Spring issue of 1974, still available for purchase.
