

Notes on the Contributors

Claude Albagli is president of CEDIMES Institute, a French speaking international academic network of economists and administrators in 35 countries. He has worked on cooperation projects in Sub-Saharan Africa for fifteen years in various universities and took up the position of Dean with the creation of an institute of enterprise administration. Elected in University Paris II Panthéon-Assas in 1984, he has specialized in development economics, international economics and organizational systems. He has published various works on these subjects, such as 'The agricultural surplus' (2001). In 2004, he was elected in the Faculty of Administration and International Exchange of University Paris XII. He manages the collection of 'Mouvements Economiques et Sociaux' [Economic and Social Movement]. He has been awarded three honorary doctorates in Russia, Kazakhstan and Romania respectively. He received the French National Order of Merit and the Order of Academic Palms both at the rank of knight. [email: claudio.albagli@cedimes.org] [URL: www.cedimes.org]

Alain Bienaymé (1934) is Professeur Emeritus at the University of Paris-Dauphine. He is director of the Bureau CEDIMES-France and member of the Institut CEDIMES (a worldwide network of 35 Centres for the Study of International Development and Economic and Social Movements (2006–). A former collaborator of prime minister Edgar Faure in the cabinets of the ministries of agriculture, education and social affairs and the National Assembly (1965–1978), he is an honorary member of the Conseil Économique et Social, of which he was a member then chair of the section for general and current economic problems (1974–84). He is honorary president of the Société d'Économie Politique, which he chaired from 1988 to 1992, and a former member of the Conseil Franco-Britannique (2000–6). His most recent books are: Les Grandes Questions d'économie contemporaine, Odile Jacob 2006; joint editor with Raymond Krakovitch of Edgar Faure: un homme d'État, Economica 2007. Address: EURISCO, Université Paris-Dauphine, Place du Maréchal de Lattre de Tassigny, 75775 Paris Cedex 16, France. [email: alain.bienayme@dauphine.fr]

Pierre Cartier is a mathematician, a former student of Henri Cartan's and André Weil's at the École Normale Supérieure and professor at the Institut des Hautes Etudes Scientifiques. His name is associated, among other things, with the 'Cartier operator' and the 'Cartier divisor', which are used in algebraic geometry. In 1979 he received the Prix Ampère from the Académie des Sciences. Address: IHES, 35 Route

Copyright © UNESCO 2008

SAGE: Los Angeles, London, New Delhi and Singapore, <http://dio.sagepub.com>

DOI: 10.1177/0392192108092631

de Chartres, 91440 Bures-sur-Yvette, France. [email: cartier@ihes.fr] [URL: <http://www.ihes.fr/~cartier>]

In-Suk Cha holds the UNESCO chair in 'Teaching philosophy for democracy' at Seoul National University and is president of the International Council for Philosophy and the Humanistic Sciences (CIPSH). He studied at the New School for Social Research in New York and the University of Fribourg in Germany. Among his most recent publications are: Philosophy and Democracy in Asia (ed.), 1997; Philosophy, Culture and Education (ed.), 1999; Teaching Philosophy for Democracy (ed.), 2000 and the essay 'The Mundialization of Home: Toward a Great Community'. Address: Shindang-Dong 62-40, Chung-Ku, Seoul 100-456, South Korea. [email: insukcha@snu.ac.kr] [URL: www.zmk.uni-freiburg.de/Online_Texts/in_suk_cha.htm]

Bénédictte Fauvarque-Cosson a jurist, is professor at the University Panthéon-Assas, where she teaches comparative law, common law, domestic and international contract law and international private law. She is general secretary of the Société de législation comparée, scientific director of the Recueil Dalloz and vice president of the International Academy of Comparative Law. Among her recent publications are: Le Code civil face à son destin, 2006, Pensée juridique française et harmonisation européenne du droit (with D. Mazeaud), 2003. Address: Université Panthéon-Assas, 12, place du Panthéon, 75005 Paris, France. [email: b.fauvarquecosson@wanadoo.fr] [URL: <http://www.umrdc.fr/fauvarque-cosson.pdf>]

Micheline Galley is honorary research director at the CNRS, Paris. An ethnologist specialising in Arabic cultures, her career focus has been the collection, transcription, translation and analysis of stories from the oral traditions of North Africa, through which she became one of the specialists of the Geste hilalienne. Three of her compilations have appeared in the collections of the 'Classiques Africains' (1971, 1983, 1994), while two others have appeared more recently with the publisher Geuthner: Le Figuier Magique [The Magic Fig-Tree] 2003 and Taghrîba 2005. She has also worked in Malta on poetic improvisation, life stories (cf. Maria Calleja's Gozo, Utah University Press and UNESCO 1994) and agrarian rituals (cf. her film L-Imnarja, Fêtes des Lumières à Malte). She has undertaken a considerable body of research and published several articles on the theme of the Sibyls; she is at present preparing a copiously illustrated work on this theme. Address: 12 rue La Bruyère, 75009 Paris, France. [email: michelinegalley@orange.fr]

Bonaventure Mvé-Ondo is a lecturer in the philosophy department at the Omar Bongo University (Gabon) and vice-rector of the Agence Universitaire de la Francophonie (Montréal) and former director of the West Africa Bureau of this Agency (Dakar). He has long been involved with scientific and cultural development policies for African countries, in particular through partnerships with international agencies for research support. His most recent publication is Afrique: la fracture scientifique (Paris: Futuribles, 2005). Address: 5500 Place de Jummonville, Montréal, Canada. [email: bonaventure.mve-ondo@auf.org]

Mordecai Roshwald was born in 1921 in Poland. He holds a doctorate from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem (1947) and is Professor Emeritus of the University of Minnesota. He is author of The Education of Man (1954, in Hebrew), Humanism in Practice (1955), Moses: Leader, Prophet, Man (with Miriam Roshwald, 1969), The Transient and the Absolute: An Interpretation of the Human Condition and of Human Endeavor (1999), Liberty: Its Meaning and Scope (2000), The Half-Truths by Which We Live (2006), Dreams and Nightmares: Science and Technology in Myth and Fiction (2008), Biblical Revisions and Para-Biblical Visions (2008, forthcoming) and has published two volumes of fiction: Level 7 (1959, 2004) and A Small Armageddon (1962). Address: 8811 Colesville Road, Apt. 502, Silver Spring, MD 20910-4332, USA. [email: roshwald@gmail.com]

Marietta Stepanyants is director of the Centre for Oriental Philosophies Studies, Institute of Philosophy of the Russian Academy of Sciences. Her research aims to compare the philosophical approaches underlying Western, Islamic and Eastern cultures. She is the author of twelve books and has edited over 20 works. Among her recent publications is Comparative Ethics in a Global Age (ed.) Washington, DC: The Council for Research in Values and Philosophy, 2007. Address: Institute of philosophy, Russian Academy of sciences, 14, Volhonka Street, Moscow 119 992, Russia. [email: marietta_35@mail.ru]

G rard Toulouse physicist, CNRS research director at the Ecole Normale Sup rieure physics laboratory in Paris and member of the Acad mie des Sciences, has received several prizes for his research. Among his latest publications are: Les Scientifiques et les droits de l'homme (2003), Quelle  thique pour les sciences? (2005). Address: Laboratoire de Physique, Ecole Normale Sup rieure, 24, rue Lhomond, 75231 Paris Cedex 05, France. [email: Gerard.toulouse@lpt.ens.fr] [URL: www.lpt.ens.fr/~toulouse/]