

CPD Online

1 New from CPD Online

Cochrane corner

2 Valproic acid, valproate and divalproex in the maintenance treatment of bipolar disorder

Andrea Cipriani, Keith Reid, Allan H. Young, Karine Macritchie & John Geddes

Round the corner

3 Commentary Valproate? Lithium comes first

Mary Jane Attenburrow & Katharine Smith

Articles

5 Perinatal depression and psychosis: an update

Myles Doyle, Angela Carballo & Veronica O'Keane

15 Parenting and personality disorder: clinical and child protection implications

Gwen Adshead

23 Attention-deficit hyperactivity disorder in children and adolescents: assessment and treatment

Peter Hill

33 Drug and alcohol addiction: new pharmacotherapies

Jason Luty

42 Religion and spirituality in clinical practice

Christopher C. H. Cook

54 Human rights in psychiatric practice: an overview for clinicians

Brendan D. Kelly

63 Relieving in-patient boredom in general hospitals: the evidence for intervention and practical ideas

Rachel Steele & Keith Linsley

Mindreading

51 The art of Edvard Munch: a window onto a mind

Hina Azeem

Reflection

71 Hong Kong: recent development of mental health services

Wai-chi Chan, Linda Chiu-wa Lam & Eric Yu-hai Chen

Refreshment

31 General teams in psychiatry

Christopher F. Fear

Cover image

The orchid–dandelion hypothesis suggests that some environments will damage even the most resilient child. Gwen Adshead (pp. 15–22) discusses the risks to child development of having a parent with a personality disorder, stressing the duty on mental healthcare providers to offer services for adults that focus on their parenting identity. Image: ©iStockphoto/Jasmina007.