

The Association for the Study of Negro Life and History will hold its fifty-first annual meeting in Baltimore, Maryland, at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel, October 21, 22 and 23, 1966. Persons interested in attendance or participation are invited to contact Roland C. McConnell, Chairman of Arrangements or Walter Fisher, Program Chairman; Morgan State College, Cold-spring Lane and Hillen Road, Baltimore, Maryland 21212.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The Institute on American Freedoms announces its sponsorship of a prize essay contest for graduate students in political science. An award of $1,000 will be made for the best original research project on "frontier problems in the field of criminal law or the administration of criminal justice." Similar awards will be made to graduate students in law and sociology.

Judges of the contest will be selected by the Executive Board of the Institute. Their decision will be announced before January 1, 1967. Essays, either individually or jointly written, must be submitted by September 1, 1966. Published articles will be considered if they appeared after January 1, 1965.

Members of the Executive Board of the Institute are: Daniel M. Berman, The American University (Executive Director); Vern Countryman, Harvard Law School; David Fellman, University of Wisconsin; Philip B. Kurland, University of Chicago Law School; and Herbert L. Packer, Stanford University Law School.

In order to assist scholars to acquire survey materials from the developing countries, the Survey Research Center of the University of California, Berkeley, under a grant from the National Science Foundation, created the International Data Library and Reference Service two years ago. The Library now has approximately 120 studies, including 70 from Asia and 37 from Latin America. Except for the few studies which are still being analyzed by the original data-suppliers, all of these materials can be freely rediffused. Most of the studies have been cleaned, but most of the clean versions are on octal tape. In the future, the Library will maintain the cleaned studies on BCD tape. Of course, the cards also can be obtained.

The user of this unique service need pay only the duplicating and mailing costs.

In addition to acquiring materials from other countries, the Library has collected information about foreign research agencies and organizations capable of collecting materials for American scholars. (Information on other specialized archives and social science information services may be obtained from the Executive Director, Council of Social Science Data Archives, Bureau of Applied Social Research, 605 West 115th, New York, New York 10025.)

To help the Library perform these important services, scholars are requested to inform it of studies and information which it might consider acquiring.

Please address your inquiries to the International Data Library and Reference Service, Survey Research Center, University of California, Berkeley, California 94720.

American political scientists presently among the specialists at work in the Senior Specialists program of the East-West Center, University of Hawaii are Henry Hart, University of Wisconsin; Richard S. Wheeler, University of Michigan, and Martin Landau, Brooklyn College.

A group of anonymous donors, friends of Harold H. Fisher, Chairman Emeritus of the Hoover Institute and Library at Stanford University, have pledged $100,000 to Mills College for the establishment of a scholarship honoring him. Professor Fisher was associated with Mills College from 1961 to 1964 as visiting professor of history and government. Since his retirement from Stanford in 1955, he has served on the faculties of the University of California at Berkeley, San Francisco State College, Columbia University and Tokyo University.

This summer four seminars will be held at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor under the auspices of the Inter-university Consortium for Political Research, a cooperating group of sixty American and Canadian universities. Eight-week courses in research design, data analysis, and mathematical political analysis will extend from June 29 to August 18. In addition, a specialized seminar in comparative research in state politics will be held from August 1 through August 12. The seminar in mathematical political analysis is jointly sponsored by the Mathematical Social Science Board and will be led by Hayward Alker of Yale University. The state politics seminar will be led by Herbert Jacob of the University of Wisconsin, John Grumm of the University of Kansas, Samuel Patterson of the University of Iowa, H. Douglas Price of Harvard University, and Kenneth Vines of Tulane University. The course in research design will be led by Warren Miller and the course in data analysis by Donald Stokes, both of the Consortium staff. Expenses of participants in the research design, data analysis, and state politics seminars can be partially met out of funds made available by the National Science Foundation. Financial assistance can be made available to participants in the mathematical political analysis seminar out of funds provided by the Mathematical Social Science Board. Inquiries about the seminars should be directed to the Inter-university Consortium for Political Research, Box 1248, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48106.

A seminar in Development was held at the Claremont Colleges from December 26, 1965, to January 1, 1966. The seminar was sponsored by the Institute of International Education and the Agency for International Development. Participants included 55 Development Fellows from 20 African and Asian countries. Administrative director of the seminar was Dean Arthur Feraru of Pitzer College; academic director was Merrill R. Goodall of the Claremont Graduate School.

The National Institute of Social and Behavioral Science, in collaboration with the Section on Social and Economic Sciences of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, will hold its regular sessions for contributed papers at the annual meeting of the A.A.A.S. in Washington, D. C., December 26–31, 1966.

Association members interested in presenting a paper at these sessions are invited to forward titles and abstracts of some 300 words not later than September 1st to Donald P. Ray, Director, National Institute of Social and Behavioral Science, 863 Benjamin Franklin Station, Washington, D. C. 20044.

Papers should be based upon the current research of the author. Subjects may relate to any aspect of political science. Topics of special interest might concern social change in the U.S.S.R., the political science of national security, socio-political problems of divided nations, international law and relations, and general subjects in American government and politics. Multidisciplinary studies are also of interest.

Selected materials of the sessions of the National Institute will be published in the Symposia Studies Series.

The American Political Science Association regularly holds symposia sessions at A.A.A.S. meetings as an affiliate member of the Section on Social and Economic Sciences.

HENRY J. ABRAHAM, University of Pennsylvania, participated in an interdisciplinary colloquium on "The Emerging Constitution," led by Rexford Guy Tugwell, at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, Santa Barbara, from January 29–February 10.

HUGH A. BONE, University of Washington, has been elected secretary of the Constitutional Advisory Council for the State of Washington, which was created by law to recommend changes in the constitution. Paul R. Castleberry, Washington State University, also serves on the committee as an ex-officio member.

LOUIS F. BRAKEMAN, Denison University, will serve during the summer of 1966 as the Director of the Regional Council Center for International Students in Pittsburgh.

JOHN H. BUNZEL, San Francisco State College, has received a research grant from the Committee in Constitutional Democracy of the Rockefeller Foundation, and is on leave during the 1965–66 academic year.

ARDATH W. BURKS, Rutgers University, has returned from Japan after a semester's field work.

CARL Q. CHRISTOL, University of Southern California, will conduct a second special summer program in 1966 on "World Law and World Order." The program is financed by a grant from the World Law Fund of New York City. He also served as a consultant to the United States Naval War College in 1965.

JAMES B. CHRISTOPH, The Ohio State University, participated in a two-week conference in September on political and economic problems of Western European integration sponsored by the British Foreign Office at Wilton Park, Sussex.

INIS L. CLAUDE, JR., The University of Michigan, lectured at the Law Faculty of the Universidad Nacional Autonoma de Mexico in October, in a program organized to commemorate the twentieth anniversary of the United Nations.

DAVID R. DERGE, Indiana University, spent April and May in India and Afghanistan studying the impact of U. S. foreign aid to education and research in various universities.

GILBERT H. FLANZ is on a spring term sabbatical leave from New York University. He visited Korea as an advisor to the Korean government.

GUY FOX, Michigan State University, is spending the 1965 and 1966 academic years in Baghdad, Iraq, as Chief Advisor to the Institute of Public Administration, University of Baghdad. The project is financed by the Ford Foundation.

DONALD M. HANCOCK, University of Texas, has been awarded a research grant from the University's Research Institute. He will spend the summer in Sweden.

LIYA HARIK, Indiana University, will be on leave during 1966-67 doing research in Egypt on a grant from the American Research Center in Egypt.

BERNARD HENNESSY, Director of the National Center for Education in Politics, was a member of an international Research Conference on Learning and the Educational Process, sponsored by the SSRC, at Stanford University, June 21 to July 30, 1965.

JOHN C. HONEY, Maxwell Graduate School, Syracuse University, is serving during 1966 as a consultant to the Ford Foundation's programs on Latin America and Public Affairs. He is also a consultant to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in the preparation of a report on university programs for mid-career executive development of officials in public service. He is assisting AID and the University of Puerto Rico in evaluating the special program of the University's School of Public Administration.

BASIL KARP, Columbia University, participated in the First World Conference on University Adult Education, held at Humlebaek, Denmark, and in a British-North American conference on university adult education at Oxford, England, last summer.

KEMAL H. KARPAT, New York University, is engaged in organizing an international conference on the social foundations of democracy in the Middle East, to be held in the summer of 1966. The purpose of the conference is to appraise political modernization from the point of view of non-western nations.

JOEL LARUS, Brandeis University, is on leave during 1965-66 as a research fellow of the Mershon National Security Center at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

WERNER LEVI, University of Hawaii, spent December and January 1965-66 in Australia and French Polynesia. He gave some lectures and did some research.

ERWIN L. LEVINE, Skidmore College, is on research leave, second term 1966.

DOUGLAS MENDEL, JR., University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, will lecture at Sophia University, Tokyo, during the summer of 1966 and will continue his field work for the Roper Opinion Research Center at Williams College.

CHARLES NEFF has returned to the University of Hawaii after two years as Associate Director of the Peace Corps in Colombia.

NORMAN D. PALMER, University of Pennsylvania, was recently appointed a member of the Pakistan Council of the Asia Society in New York. He participated in a conference on "Design for Political Science, Objective Methods," held in December in Philadelphia under the auspices of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

PHILIP M. PHIBBS, Wellesley College, will be on leave in 1966-67 for research in India on a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

GERALD POMPER, Rutgers University, has been awarded a University Research Council grant for a year's leave, beginning July, 1966.

EMMETTE S. REDFORD, The University of Texas, has been appointed by President Lyndon B. Johnson to the newly created National Council on Humanities, which will advise the government on programs to strengthen education and scholarship in the liberal arts.

JAMES R. ROACH, The University of Texas, has been appointed by President Lyndon Johnson to the Board of Foreign Scholarships. The Board supervises the educational exchange programs administered by the Department of State under the Fulbright-Hays Act and certain exchange functions administered by the U. S. Office of Education.

ROBERT R. ROBBINS, Tufts University, served as Legislative Counsel and Consultant to the Congress of Micronesia and as Advisor on the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands during a 1965-66 sabbatical leave.

JOHN H. ROMANI, University of Michigan, has been named Staff Director of the Committee on the Organization of Health Activities of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

GORDON J. SCHOCHET, Rutgers University, will spend six weeks at the University of California at Los Angeles as a Clark Library Fellow in British History.

DAVID C. SCHWARTZ presented a paper at the 1965 Meetings of The American Association for the Advancement of Science.

ROGER M. SMITH, University of Washington, will study in Southeast Asia during 1966-67 under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation. James E. Todd, University of Iowa, will replace him during his leave of absence.

JAMES A. STEINTRAGER, The University of Texas, has received a research grant from the Relm Foundation for the academic year 1966-67. He will be conducting research under the grant in London, England.

ROBERT W. STERN has received a faculty research fellowship for study in India for the year 1966-67 from the American Institute of Indian Studies.

JOHN E. STONER, Indiana University, has received a grant from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads and the Indiana Highway Commission to establish a system for coding the location of highway traffic accidents by electronic data processing procedures.

RICHARD N. SWIFT, New York University, has been elected president of the Mid-Atlantic Region of the International Studies Association.

CHARLES L. TAYLOR, College of William and Mary, will be on leave during 1966-67 and will be Technical Director of the Yale Data Program.

HENRY J. TEUNE, University of Pennsylvania, was on a leave of absence this fall in connection with the International Studies of Values in Politics project, spending his time in Yugoslavia.

JOHN E. TURNER, ROBERT T. HOLT, WALTER KLEIN and THOMAS SCOTT are jointly directing the University of Minnesota's new Center for Comparative Political Analysis.

DANIEL W. TUTTLE has resigned from his post in the department of political science, effective June 1966, and has accepted a position as secretary of the Hawaii Education Association, effective July 1966.

HENRY WELLS, University of Pennsylvania, was a member of the technical assistance mission sent by the Organization of American States to Costa Rica to observe the general election held in that country on February 6, 1966. He has previously served on OAS electoral missions in the Dominican Republic and Honduras.

ARISTIDE ZOLBERG, University of Chicago, is the Director for the University's new Center for Comparative Study of Political Development.

NEW APPOINTMENTS

VICTOR BASIUK, associate professor, Case Institute of Technology; formerly of Columbia University.

JAMES J. BEST, assistant professor, University of Washington.

RICHARD N. BLUE, assistant professor, University of Minnesota.

MINKYU CHO, instructor, Wisconsin State University at Whitewater.

JAMES COBBLEDICK, assistant professor, Skidmore College, 1965-66.

JOSEPH N. CROWLEY, instructor, University of Nevada, spring term, 1966.

MURRAY EDELMAN, professor, University of Wisconsin; formerly of the University of Illinois; September, 1966.

EUGENE EIDENBERG, assistant professor, University of Minnesota.

JOAN FISS, instructor, University College, New York University.

THOMAS HOVET, JR., professor, University of Oregon; formerly of New York University.

KENNETH F. JOHNSON, associate professor, University of Southern California; formerly of Colorado State University.

HERBERT M. KAGI, assistant professor, University of Washington.

DAVID A. KAY, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin.

KENT A. KIRWAN, instructor, Lawrence University.

L. LARRY LEONARD, associate professor, Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh.

MICHAEL LIPSKY, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin.

JOHN F. MANLEY, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin.

TIMOTHY MEAD, instructor, Moravian College.

CLIFTON McCLESKY, associate professor, University of Texas; formerly of the University of Houston. September, 1966.

J. PETER MEEKISON, assistant professor, University of Washington; formerly of Duke University. September, 1966.

STANLEY MICHALAK, assistant professor, Franklin and Marshall College; formerly of the Ohio State University.

JACK NORAGON, Denison University, 1966-67.

JAMES E. PANTON, instructor, Skidmore College.

NEALE J. PEARSON, instructor, Miami University (Ohio).

BURTON M. SAPIN, associate professor, University of Minnesota.

DAVID C. SCHWARTZ, assistant professor, University of Pennsylvania.

STUART A. SCHEINGOLD, assistant professor,

University of Wisconsin; formerly of University of California, Davis.

JEROME N. SLATER, assistant professor, State University of New York at Buffalo; formerly of the Ohio State University.

RICHARD G. STEVENS, assistant professor, University of Washington; formerly of the University of Santa Clara. September, 1966.

RODNEY P. STIEFBOLD, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin.

JOHN C. WAHLKE, professor, University of Iowa; formerly of the State University of New York, Buffalo; September, 1966.

DONALD ZAGORIA, associate professor, Columbia University.

VISITING APPOINTMENTS

JAMES E. ANDERSON, Wake Forest College: visiting associate professor, University of Houston, spring term, 1966.

ARDATH W. BURKS, Rutgers—the State University: visiting professor, Columbia University, spring term, 1966.

HAROLD CHASE, University of Minnesota: visiting professor, National War College, 1965-66.

LANE DAVIS, University of Iowa: visiting professor, University of Wisconsin, 1966-67.

HERBERT GARFINKEL, Michigan State University: NATO visiting professor, Institute of Social Studies, the Hague, 1965-66.

WILLIAM J. KEEFE, Chatham College: visiting professor, University of Wisconsin, summer, 1966.

H. KOEPLER, Warden of Wilton Park, England: Mershon distinguished visiting professor, the Ohio State University, spring term, 1966.

ROSCOE C. MARTIN, Syracuse University: visiting professor, University of California at Berkeley, 1966-67.

ROY MOREY, Denison University: visiting assistant professor, University of Arizona, summer, 1966.

FREDERICK L. SCHUMAN, Williams College: visiting professor, Claremont Graduate School, spring term, 1966.

WALTER SHARP, Yale University: visiting professor, Columbia University, 1965-66.

JOSEF SILVERSTEIN, Rutgers—the State University: visiting professor, University of Pennsylvania, spring term, 1966.

FREDERICK A. SONDERMANN, Colorado College: visiting professor, Claremont Graduate School, spring term, 1966.

JOHN E. TURNER, University of Minnesota: visiting professor, University of Hawaii, summer, 1965.

J. G. G. WOOTTON, Oxford University: visiting professor, Tufts University, 1965-66.

BENJAMIN F. WRIGHT, University of Texas: visiting professor, Harvard, 1966-67.

OTHER APPOINTMENTS

NORBERT BROCKMAN, S.M., chairman of the department, University of Dayton.

WILLIAM BUCHANAN, chairman of the department and professor, Washington and Lee University; formerly of the University of Tennessee.

BYRUM E. CARTER, chairman of the department, Indiana University.

JOHN DONOVAN, chairman and De Alva Stanwood Alexander professor, Bowdoin College.

ALEX N. DRAGNICH, chairman of the department, Vanderbilt University.

LELAND M. GOODRICH, acting chairman of the department, Columbia University, 1965-66.

EUGENE W. JONES, acting dean, Wayland Baptist College.

NED V. JOY, chairman of the department, San Diego State College.

BASIL KARP, associate dean, School of General Studies, Columbia University; formerly of the Department of State.

GERARD J. MANGONE, acting dean, Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University.

RAYMOND L. McILVENNA, chairman of the department, University of the Pacific.

W. WARNER MOSS, director, Marshall-Wythe Institute of Public Affairs, College of William and Mary.

ROBERT E. RIGGS, assistant director, International Relations and Area Studies Center, University of Minnesota.

JAMES M. ROHERTY, head of the department, College of William and Mary.

EVANGELOS ROUSOS, chairman of the department, Fenger College.

BURTON M. SAPIN, coordinator of International Programs and director, International Relations and Area Studies Center, University of Minnesota.

JAMES R. WATSON, special assistant to the President, Rutgers.

PROMOTIONS (with new rank)

NORMAN A. BAILEY, Queens College (CUNY): associate professor.

RAYMOND D. BODNAR, Bureau of Government Research, Rutgers—the State University: associate extension specialist.

PHILIP H. BURCH, JR., Bureau of Government Research, Rutgers—the State University: associate research specialist.

HARRIS I. EFFROSS, Bureau of Government Research, Rutgers—the State University: associate research specialist.

RICHARD C. GRIPP, San Diego State College: professor.

HAROLD H. HAAK, San Diego State College: associate professor.

D. JOY HUMES, Wells College: professor.

BARBARA WOLFE JANCAR, Skidmore College: assistant professor.

HENRY W. MORTON, Queens College (CUNY): associate professor.

JOHN RENSENBRINK, Bowdoin College: associate professor.

WALTER L. RILEY, University of Washington: associate professor.

JOHN H. ROMANI, School of Public Health, University of Michigan: professor.

KARL SCHMITT, University of Texas: professor.

FRANK SORAUF, University of Minnesota: professor.

HENRY J. TEUNE, University of Pennsylvania: associate professor.

JAMES P. YOUNG, State University of New York at Buffalo: associate professor.

RESIGNATIONS AND RETIREMENTS

WALTER H. C. LAVES has resigned from the chairmanship of the department of Indiana University, effective June, 1966, a position which he has held since September, 1954.

ALBERT H. ROSE, S.M. has returned to teaching and research after twenty years as chairman of the department at the University of Dayton.