The Rise of the Corporate Economy

The British Experience

Leslie Hannah

"In both method and substance Leslie Hannah's The Rise of the Corporate Economy has much to offer American readers. Hannah has combined accurate historical narrative with effective economic analysis to produce a model of what can be called institutional economic history. The resulting text permits for the first time a comparison of institutional change in the American economy with that of Britain, the world's first industrial nation." — from the Foreword by Alfred D. Chandler Dealing with the period from 1880 to 1970, which witnessed Britain's "second industrial revolution," the author analyzes the factors which led to the rise of large corporations. $15.00

The Journal of Transport History

Leicester University Press

1 University Road
Leicester LE1 7RB, England

Established in 1953, this was the first Journal to be devoted to the history of transport as a whole, in all its branches, ancient and modern. It has attained a high reputation for the quality and range of the papers it has published.

A New Series of the Journal was started in 1971, and appears twice yearly, in February and September. Each volume comprises four issues: each issue includes about 64 pages, in size $9\frac{3}{4} \times 7\frac{1}{4}$ inches. The comprehensive character of the First Series has been maintained, and the Journal continues to include book reviews as well as articles. One of its leading features is an annual bibliography of periodical articles in transport studies.

The annual subscription rate is £5.00 (U.S. $13.00); single copies £2.75 (U.S. $7.25); post free. Further details of the New Series and a list of back issues of the First Series are available on request. The Editorial Committee welcomes the submission of articles for consideration, which should be sent to the Committee at this address.

Newcomen Awards in Business History

Presented by

THE NEWCOMEN SOCIETY IN NORTH AMERICA

in cooperation with

THE BUSINESS HISTORY REVIEW

¶ Two Newcomen Awards in Business History are offered annually for articles published in the Business History Review. The First Prize, of $250, is awarded the article judged, according to the rules outlined below, to be the best of the year. The Special Award, of $100, is for the best article by a graduate student or a recent Ph.D. who has not published a book.

¶ Prize articles are selected by a panel of judges composed of a representative of The Newcomen Society and members of the Advisory Board of the Business History Review. No member of the Advisory Board or editorial staff shall be eligible for a prize, and articles so authored will not be considered in the judging. Authors eligible for the Special Award shall also be eligible for the First Prize, but in no event shall both prizes be awarded for the same article. The Advisory Board reserves the right to withhold the Special Award in the event that eligible articles do not, in the Board's judgment, merit prize consideration. The awards program is administered by the editorial offices of the magazine.

¶ Criteria for selection include: originality, value, breadth, and interest of contribution, quality of research materials and methods, and quality of presentation.

ENTERPRISE AND NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

ESSAYS IN CANADIAN BUSINESS AND ECONOMIC HISTORY
Edited by GLENN PORTER AND ROBERT CUFF

These essays deal with a wide range of important topics in the interaction of business, government, and society in Canada. Their value is two-fold. As careful explorations of Canadian history, they provide important insights into the Canadian past. But the issues they treat are still with us, and these essays make important contributions to the continuing debate over such enduring issues as the mainsprings of national identity, the impact of foreign influence on the economy, the search for economic growth, and the optimum relationship between federal and provincial governments in shaping national development.

These essays appeared originally in Business History Review. Contributors: Glenn Porter, Christopher Armstrong, H. V. Nelles, Michael Bliss, T. W. Acheson, Stephen Scheinberg, Patricia E. Roy, Alan Wilson. 138 pp. $2.50/$6.95.
