All enquiries of an editorial nature should be directed to the Executive Secretary at the above address.

Edited by

JILLIAN SCOTT MCINTOSH

$22.00 • 264 pp.

ISBN 0-919491-27-8

ISSN 0229-7051

What might we know if we knew that the mind is an adaptation? What could knowledge of history or circumstances tell us about the individuation of content or the nature/rôle of vision? What can science—evolutionary theory in particular—tell us about the metaphysics of mind?

This collection of new essays concerning the mind explores the prospects for, and limits of, appealing to facts about evolutionary history and current environment-organism interaction in explaining the nature and workings of the mental. Each paper addresses empirical data from evolutionary theory, ethology, psychology, or neuroscience, though they vary with regard to their optimism as to what such discoveries can tell us about particular issues in the philosophy of mind.

• MORAL EPISTEMOLOGY NATURALIZED

Edited by
RICHMOND CAMPBELL &
BRUCE HUNTER
$25.00 • 241 pp.
ISBN 0-919491-26-X
ISSN 0045-5091

A traditional task of epistemology is to establish and defend systematic standards that must be met in order for us to have knowledge or justified beliefs. A naturalized epistemology tries to arrive at such standards through an empirical investigation into how we interact with our fellows and the world around us, what we seek in these activities, and the particular ways in which we can and cannot succeed. This approach is a radical departure from tradition because its means of investigation is empirical.

Nevertheless, since its inception three decades ago, this style of epistemology has become a powerful trend in contemporary theory of knowledge. This collection breaks new ground in extending the insights and methodology of naturalized epistemology to the subject of moral knowledge and moral theory.
