'A STITCH IN TIME ...'

Published by

The Children's Bureau of Australia

in association with

The Office of Intellectual Disability Services — Department of Community Services — Victoria

This comprehensive study represents an effort to respond to a growing need for information on respite care by seeking a clearer understanding of specific needs these services are attempting to address. Key factors that need to be considered when developing and implementing respite care programs for families of disabled children and also when assessing their value and impact are also highlighted.

The study represents vital reading for anyone concerned with the plight of disabled children and their families!

MARGARET MATTERS

This article describes a family support program tackling the needs of families who are sometimes seen as “multi deficit”, “multi problem”, “hard to reach”, “hard core” and “excluded”.

Families, Children and Local Government 7

JENNY WILLS

This article draws attention to the increasing involvement and some of the concerns of local government in planning and providing services for families and children. The state of play in intergovernmental relations is raised and some aspects of potentially fruitful demonstration projects are noted.

Family Aide Services in Victoria 9

PATRICIA BRIGGS

The results are reported of a 1988 survey of agencies in Victoria operating family aide programs. Valuable data has been obtained as an aid to policy and program decision making.

Gardens and Personal Growth 14

JANE PICTON

Jane describes the establishment and operation of a garden centre. The Kevin Heinze Centre brings together volunteers and people with disabilities, extending learning and opportunities.

Not the Last Word: Point and Counter-Point 16

CHRIS GODDARD

Chris notes the discovery of Affluenza and the Favelas above. Dry economics awash in the rising tide.

AUSTRALIAN CHILD AND FAMILY
WELFARE is the quarterly journal of the Childrens Bureau of Australia

The Bureau and its publications committee seek to provide in the journal an opportunity for providers to report on their work. It is also a forum where those concerned with the welfare of families and children might share their viewpoints with others. The views expressed therefore are not necessarily the views of the Bureau, the publications committee or the editor.

Citation of material should carry the name and issue of the journal. Permission to reproduce articles should be sought from the author.
