Congress Underestimated: The Case of the World Bank Kristina Daugirdas 517

This article challenges the oft-repeated claim that international organizations undermine democracy by marginalizing national legislatures. Over the past forty years, Congress has established itself as a key player in setting U.S. policy toward the World Bank. Congress has done far more than restrain executive branch action with which it disagrees; it has affirmatively shaped the United States' day-to-day participation in this key international organization and successfully defended its constitutional authority to do so.

THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

The American Society of International Law was organized in 1906 “to foster the study of international law and to promote the establishment and maintenance of international relations on the basis of law and justice.” Society membership is open to all persons of any nationality and profession who are interested in its objectives. Information about membership and sponsorship programs is available online at www.asil.org. The Society is incorporated by an Act of Congress approved September 20, 1950 (64 Stat. 869).

PROGRAM OF WORK

In addition to publishing the American Journal of International Law, the ASIL offers a variety of information resources and participation opportunities for members as well as nonmembers. These programs, best viewed at www.asil.org, include publications such as International Legal Materials and Studies in Transnational Legal Policy; electronic bulletins such as ASIL Insights, International Law In Brief, and IL.post; events such as the Annual Meeting and other gatherings in Washington, D.C., and around the world; outreach programs for the judicial sector, the media, and other audiences; an array of resources on the ASIL Web site, such as the Electronic Information System for International Law (EISIL) and the Guide to Electronic Resources for International Law (ERG); and opportunities to be part of an active network bridging expert and nonexpert communities associated with the development of international law.

PHILANTHROPY AND THE SOCIETY

The ASIL accomplishes much of its work through charitable support. The Society is grateful to its many members who contribute to the annual fund and the endowment, the foundations whose grants fund special programs, and the law firms, publishers, universities, and others that sponsor ASIL activity. The Society is particularly honored to receive contributions through the 21st century campaign and Patrons program and to be included in our members' estate plans through the ASIL Heritage Circle. We recognize these contributors below.

AMERICAN JOURNAL OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

The views expressed in the articles, editorial comments, book reviews, and all other contributions to the AJIL are those of the individual authors and are not to be taken as representing the views of the Board of Editors or the American Society of International Law.

SUBMISSION OF MANUSCRIPTS

The American Journal of International Law (AJIL) invites submission of manuscripts on international law subjects. Its coverage extends beyond public international law to closely related issues of global governance, transnational law and national or sub-state law. It generally does not publish manuscripts focused on purely private or commercial law or on comparative or foreign law, including the internal law of the European Union.

The AJIL will not consider submissions whose content has been, or will be, published before it appears in this journal.

The AJIL does not require exclusive submissions. Priority consideration will, however, be accorded where the author states that the submission is exclusive for a specified period of at least six weeks and commits to accept an offer of publication within the specified time period. Authors should bear in mind that, as a professionally juried journal, the AJIL is rarely if ever able to make offers of publication in response to requests for expedited review within the time limits typically fixed by other journals that have made offers of publication.

Submissions should be in electronic form and should be transmitted as attachments to e-mail messages addressed to ajil@asil.org.

The AJIL currently uses Word 2010/2007, but can convert manuscripts created in other word processing programs (in such cases, please specify the program used—documents must be in easily edited formats). Please do not send manuscripts in PDF format.

Format and style guidelines: All manuscripts should be double-spaced in 12-point Times New Roman type; these formatting requirements cover all text, quotations, and footnotes.

The maximum length for lead articles is 30,000 words (including footnotes which should be complete and generally in conformity with The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (19th ed. 2010) as well as the AJIL Style Guide, available online at www.asil.org/ajil\_style\_guide.pdf).

Shorter pieces with less discursive footnotes are strongly encouraged and may receive more expedited review. The maximum length for “Current Developments” and “Notes and Comments” submissions is 11,000 words. All manuscripts should be accompanied by the author’s CV (in a separate document, and including a list of publications) as well as a short abstract of no more than 150 words.

Given the volume of submissions to the Journal, authors are strongly urged to strictly adhere to these guidelines; manuscripts that exceed the word limits indicated or whose footnotes are not in accord with the The Bluebook (see above) or not generally in conformity with the Chicago Manual of Style (16th ed. 2010) may be rejected for these reasons alone.

Book reviews are by invitation; however, you may suggest books for review to the AJIL Book Review Office, 2223 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20008-2864, USA. Books for review should be sent to the same address.
