Libya: From Repression to Revolution

A Record of Armed Conflict and International Law Violations, 2011-2013

Edited by M. Cherif Bassiouni

This groundbreaking new volume provides the first comprehensive review of the Libyan conflict of 2011. The book expands on and complements the report of the Commission of Inquiry to the United Nations Human Rights Council, and provides the reader with the information essential to understanding the Libyan conflict, its causes and ramifications, and the difficulties the country faces as it rebuilds in the wake of 40 years of repression and the effects of a brutal civil war.

International Law for a Water-Scarce World

Edith Brown Weiss

The fresh water crisis is the new environmental crisis of the 21st century. By 2050, 993 million people are projected to live in cities with perennial water shortages; 3.1 billion will confront seasonal water shortages within their urban areas. The traditional legal principles upon which existing water management is based are likely to be insufficient to deal with the water problems that loom from projected climate change, population growth, food production, increased industrialization, and ecosystem needs.

Foreword

From its beginning, the Society established as one of its primary functions the regular collection, publication, and dissemination of important international legal materials. These materials were first published as a section of the American Journal of International Law, and since the 1960s as the current stand-alone International Legal Materials publication. The publication met a critical need in that earlier era—when access to primary source legal materials was limited. Today, access to information is no longer a problem. Indeed, our challenge is too much information. And therein we find a continuing mission for International Legal Materials.

The dramatic growth in the international legal field makes it nearly impossible for scholars and practitioners—let alone the general public—to keep abreast of the most important international legal developments. Fortunately they can rely on our staff and Editorial Advisory Committee to sift through the vast array of documents, identify those that are truly significant, and highlight them in International Legal Materials and our bi-weekly electronic bulletin, International Law in Brief. The Society's periodic ASIL Insights provide additional analysis of particularly high-profile developments.

Beginning in 2007, we have been supplementing all documents published in International Legal Materials with an introductory note from one of the many experts ASIL counts among its members. These notes provide summaries of the documents and key insights into their significance. In this volume we feature notes by Theodore Kill, Sean M. Thornton, Lisl Brunner, Alexander B. Makulilo, Keith Loken, Hope Lewis, Eduardo Silva Romero, and Ana Carolina Simões e Silva. We are extremely grateful to these authors, and we are confident that you will value their contributions as well.

Please send us your comments and suggestions as we continue our efforts to meet the evolving needs of the international legal community.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Andersen

INTERNATIONAL LEGAL MATERIALS®

Statement of Editorial Policy

International Legal Materials is a core publication of The American Society of International Law that reproduces texts of documents reflecting the broad scope and evolution of international law. The range of covered subjects has expanded from traditional topics such as international organizations, jurisdiction, and international trade to include developments in fields such as intellectual property, environmental law, nuclear non-proliferation, human rights, and international criminal law.

International Legal Materials serves as both a bi-monthly information service and a widely recognized archive of international law documents for a diverse, global community of legal scholars, government officials, private practitioners and institutions sharing a common interest in international law. To meet the varied demands of such a readership, documents are selected from world-wide sources on the basis of their present and future legal significance.

International Legal Materials is prepared for publication in Washington, D.C., with both the advice of the Editorial Advisory Committee and the assistance of Corresponding Editors around the world. In order to reproduce the texts of selected documents under tight production schedules, the best available source is used, whether electronic or printed.

Guidelines for Submission of Documents

The ILM Office welcomes any effort to bring suitable documents to the Office's attention. Electronic files or web links are required for publication, although printed texts can be used for initial deliberations regarding republication.

The authenticity (i.e., official version status) of submitted documents must be easily verifiable. This is facilitated by submitting files or print versions which are clearly attributable to the original source, or by providing links to documents on the original source's official website.

If the official version of a document is not available in English, an unofficial translation is acceptable. The original text must accompany such a translation.

Introductory Notes

Introductory Notes are brief articles from one to three pages in length which are intended to provide background information for a document reproduced in ILM.

For example, an Introductory Note for a treaty might include a short history of the negotiations, the dates of signature, and entry into force. An Introductory Note for legislation would give its history and international significance, while one for judicial proceedings would provide the background of the case.

The views of authors in Introductory Notes are their own and do not necessarily reflect those of either the American Society of International Law or the Managing Editor.

Acceptance of Materials and Corrections

Print submissions cannot be returned. Translators and others submitting material will be notified of the acceptance of their document for publication.

Once a translation or Introductory Note has been accepted for reproduction, the American Society of International Law will send a publication agreement to the author.

Translators and Introductory Note Authors shall be acknowledged in International Legal Materials.

In some cases minor editorial or typographical alterations may be made without contacting the author or translator. Major corrections will be sent to the author or translator for approval. Corrected Introductory Notes or translations must be returned within the time specified.

International Law In Brief

The Attorney-Editor of International Legal Materials also publishes the blog International Law In Brief, which contains objective abstracts of recently released documents pertinent to international law.

Documents abstracted in International Law In Brief are later considered for reproduction in International Legal Materials.

The archive of the International Law In Brief blog is located at The American Society of International Law website (<http://www.asil.org>). A search engine provides an easy way to find abstracts of specific documents.

The International Law In Brief blog is free, and subscription is available via RSS feed.
