

forcement practices and other social control mechanisms.

Applications for research grants are reviewed according to the peer review procedures applicable to all research grant programs sponsored by the Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration which stresses overall quality and scientific merit. Investigators are encouraged to send in a brief outline of their idea, describing the objectives, methods, significance and level of effort.

Further information can be obtained from: Dr. Richard Myrick, Psychosocial Branch, Division of Research, National Institute on Drug Abuse, Room 9-31, Parklawn Building, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Maryland 20857, (301) 433-1263.

SSRC 1979-80 Fellowships and Grants

The Social Science Research Council has announced the application dates for the fellowships and grants that it will offer for foreign area research in 1979-80. The awards—which are described below—are for the academic year 1980-81. Persons interested in applying for any of these fellowships or grants should write to the Council for its new fellowship and grants brochure, which will be ready for mailing in early August 1979. Applications must be submitted on forms provided by the Council at 605 Third Avenue, New York, New York 10016.

Fellowships for International Doctoral Research are sponsored jointly by the Council and the American Council of Learned Societies. Applicants must be graduate students in the social sciences or the humanities who will have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. except the dissertation at the time the fellowship is to begin.

These fellowships are for doctoral dissertation research to be carried out in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean, the Near and Middle East, or Western Europe. Applications for all areas are due on November 1, 1979.

Postdoctoral Grants for Research on Foreign Areas are also sponsored jointly by the Council and the American Council of Learned Societies. The grants are designed to support research in one country, comparative research between countries in an area, or comparative research between areas.

Grants are offered for research on or in Africa, China, Japan, Korea, Latin America and the Caribbean, the Near and Middle East, South Asia, and Southeast Asia. In addition, there is a special program for research on the economy of China and special programs for collaborative research on Korea and Latin America. The deadline for applications for all postdoctoral grants for foreign area research is December 1, 1979.

The Social Science Research Council, incorporated in 1924, is a nonprofit organization of scholars devoted to the advancement of research in the social sciences. The fellowship and grants programs described in this announcement are currently supported by funds provided to the Council by the Ford Foundation, the National Endowment for the Humanities, and the Mellon Foundation.

Announcement of Awards

NSF Undergraduate Research Projects

Two National Science Foundation Undergraduate Research Projects have been made to political science projects. The two projects are at Northern Illinois University where ten students will work under the direction of Professor Jon D. Miller in an $18,650 grant and at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, where nine students will work with Professor Edward E. Azar in a $17,996 grant.

Luce Foundation Grant to Cornell University

Two professors in the Department of Government at Cornell University have been awarded a grant of $65,000 from the Henry Luce Foundation's Fund for Asian Studies.

David P. Mozingo and T. J. Pempel will use the grant for a two-year research project—"Political-Economic Foundations for International Relations in Northeast Asia."

"The main focus of the research will be on ways in which recent changes in the domestic and international economic conditions affecting China, Japan and the United States have reshaped the bilateral and trilateral relationships among the three countries," Pempel said.

The grant will provide released time from teaching and research and travel funds for Mozingo and Pempel, as well as for a series of seminars and workshops at Cornell.

NSF Awards

The National Science Foundation has made the following awards to political scientists:

Graduate Fellowships

Susan A. Esser, Radcliffe College
Jeffrey C. Isaac, CUNY, Queens College
Sonya D. Winner, Michigan State University

Minority Graduate Fellowships

John W. Cotman, University of Colorado
Menelek K. Smith, University of California, San Diego

Postdoctoral Fellowships

Paul A. Sabatier, University of California, Davis

Woodrow Wilson Center Fellowships

The Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars at the Smithsonian has offered post-doctoral appointments to a number of political scientists. Winners are:

Leon Epstein, Bascom Professor of Political Science, University of Wisconsin, Madison. The politics of porous parties: The American Experience.

Raymond Tanter, Professor of Political Science, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. American foreign policy: From ally to mediator in the Middle East and southern Africa.

Todd LaPorte, Professor of Political Science, University of California, Berkeley. The challenges to public policy and organizational performance posed by technological complexity and unacceptable environmental consequences.

Kenneth N. Waltz, Professor of International Politics, University of California, Berkeley. Military strategy and defense budgets.

Wayne Cornelius, Associate Professor of Political Science, MIT; and Ann L. Craig, Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science, Clark University. Mexican migration to United States, 1884 to present.

Robert Tucker, Chairman, Council on International and Regional Studies, Princeton University. Stalin: A study in history and personality.

NIE Program of Grants for Research in Organizational Processes in Education

Several political scientists have received grants in the last couple of years and the National Institute of Education Programs for Research on Educational Processes in Education. Among them are: Dennis C. Smith, New York University; Lee S. Small and John P. Crecine, Carnegie-Mellon University; W. Henry Lambright, Syracuse University; Ira Katzmelo and Paul Peterson, University of Chicago; and Erwin Hargrove, Vanderbilt University.

NASPAA Research Fellowships in Public Personnel Management

Five candidates for doctoral degrees in Public Affairs and Administration Education have been awarded research fellowships of up to $8,000 in public personnel management from the National Association of Schools of Public Affairs and Administration. The fellowship awards were made possible by a grant funded by the U.S. Civil Service Commission under the Intergovernmental Personnel Act. The recipients, their schools and research topics are as follows:

David Noel Allen, School of Public and Environmental Affairs, Indiana University. Street-Level Police Supervision: The Effect of Supervision on Police Officer Activities and Agency Outputs.

Curtis Wayne Copeland, Department of Political Science, North Texas State University. Innovation in Municipal Personnel Offices: An Exploratory Study of Two Federal Regions.

Robert Paul McGowan, Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University. Public Managers and the Acquisition and Utilization of Information: An Analysis of Agencies in New York State.

Robert Charles Rodgers, Department of Political Science, Michigan State University. The Impact of Collective Bargaining Legislation on Public Employee Strike Activity.

Lois Recascino Wise, School of Public and Environmental Affairs, Indiana University. Public Employee Incentive Systems: The Impact of Personnel System Change.

A panel of five county executives and five deans comprised the selection committee. The awardees are expected to complete their dissertations within 12 to 15 months. This is the second year of funding for this multi-year program. Last year's Fellows are making excellent progress on their research. Their names and dissertation titles are:

Cynthia Ann Brown, Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University. Analyzing the Impact of Public Personnel Policies on Local Government Budgets.

Deborah Ann Cutchin, Institute of Public Policy Studies, Michigan State University, East Lansing. Organization Change in the Public Sector: A Survey of Attitudes and Stress among Michigan State Executives.

Ann Smith Harriman, Department of Public Administration, California State University, Sacramento. Alternative Working Patterns: Their Impact on Public Organizations.

Kenneth David Mitchell, Department of Government, Florida State University, Tallahassee. A Continuation of the "Forgotten Governments": A Look at County Officials' Attitudes on Collective Bargaining in the State of Florida.

Grace Hall Saltzstein, Graduate School of Administration, University of California, Riverside. Employment of Females in Municipal Governments; The Influence of Female Workforce Characteristics, City Characteristics, Organizational Structure, and Hiring Agents' Attitudes on Changes in Representation Levels.

Mershon Center
1978 Edgar S. Furniss, Jr. Award

The Mershon Center of the Ohio State University is pleased to announce that the 1978 Edgar S. Furniss, Jr. Award for the best manuscript dealing with significant contributions made by the policy sciences and civilian military education has been made to Janice Stein of McGill University and Raymond Tanter of the University of Michigan for their study entitled, "Rational Decision-Making: Israel's Security Choices, 1967."

Low Cost Group Insurance Available to APSA Members

APSA INSURANCE PLANS

Group Life Insurance

$30,000 protection with gradual reductions after age 50
Lifetime coverage as long as you are a member of APSA
Optional Dependent Life Coverage

Accidental Death and Specific Loss

Worldwide Coverage
Permanent Total Disability Benefits

Hospital Cash Plan

$20 or $40 each and every day hospitalized
Payable for up to 365 days for each period of hospital confinement
Benefits begin with the first day of hospitalization
Daily benefits are doubled if you are hospitalized for cancer

For further information write to:

Director, Insurance Programs
The American Political Science Association
1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20036