Lord, Teach Us How To Pray

By Rev. R. GRAEF, C.S.Sp. Translated by Sister M. H. Windecker, M.A. 24/-

What the author says in this book concerning prayer is of such depth and is so enlightening and elevating, that one may look forward with utmost confidence to the liberating and blessed results which the study of this book will produce in souls.

OTHER WORKS BY THE SAME AUTHOR:

Yes, Father

Translated by Rev. T. Rattler, O.S.A. 20/-

This is one religious book which can be read without complaining of that dryness so frequently associated with books of its nature. It is written in a clear, simple and penetrating style, and the whole idea of it is to bring God into our everyday life by outlining the means by which sanctity in our daily work may be attained.

Blessed Are They That Hunger

Translated by Sister M. H. Windecker, M.A. 16/-

Excellent matter for spiritual reading.

Secrets of the Interior Life

By Most Rev. L. M. Martinez, D.D. Translated by Rev. H. J. Beutler, C.M. 22/6

There are many truths to be gleaned from this book. The last two chapters which treat of the goal of the spiritual life are especially beautiful.

Monastic Diurnal
