

MEDICAL HISTORY

Volume 67 Number 2 April 2023

CONTENTS

Articles

- Have we lost sleep? A reconsideration of segmented sleep in early modern England
Niall Boyce 91
- Workhouse or asylum? Accommodating pauper lunatics in nineteenth-century England
Alistair Ritch 109
- 'Pearls' of the nineteenth-century: from therapeutic actors to global commodities
medicinal leeches in the Ottoman Empire
Büşra Arabacı 128
- Participating in eradication: how Guinea worm redefined eradication, and eradication redefined Guinea worm, 1985–2022
Jonathan David Roberts 148
- Medical fears of the malingering soldier: 'phony cronies' and the Repat in 1960s
Australia
Effie Karageorgos 172