How to read the label on a spotlight

1. We put the Kliegl name first on all our labels because we think it's the single most important guarantee you have of the fixture's reliability and quality. We also tell you what type of fixture it is—floodlight, spotlight, etc.

2. The catalog number of unit is clearly displayed so you don't have to hunt all over for it. Should you need more units, or want to talk to someone at Kliegl about the unit you own, the catalog number is readily accessible.

3. We list the rated voltage and wattage range of the fixture on the label for obvious reasons. You wouldn't want inexperienced personnel to guess at these ratings—so we display them prominently to you.

4. A complete set of approved lamps for the fixture, along with the rated hours and ordering code of each lamp is listed on the label. This makes record-keeping and lamp ordering a cinch.

5. The UL listing is your guarantee of adherence to rigid safety standards. It's harder to make fixtures so that they have a UL listing . . . but it helps to insure your operating safety. Look for the UL label before you buy.

This new type of label is affixed to the yoke of all Kliegl luminaires now coming off the production line.

THE CUBIST CINEMA

Standish Dyer Lawder

A study in the history of film as modern art, this is a scholarly examination of the interrelationships between the Cubist movement in painting and its manifestations in film. Dr. Lawder seeks to explore such questions as the nature of early filmic expression and its significance in early twentieth-century art. How might the earliest films have been perceived by modern artists? How has film influenced modern art? What films in themselves are notable contributions to early twentieth-century art, particularly Cubism?

THE TRIALLE OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

Being a playe in 3 acts to be rede and/or performed
by Luis Kutner

While no one can prove that Shakespeare of Stratford-on-Avon ever wrote a play in his life, the arguments claiming the masterworks for other authors are ingenious, dramatic, even convincing — and the controversy has raged for more than a century.

The whole passionate debate comes to life in THE TRIALLE OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE, a three-act play which brings back the rollicking, sophisticated court of Queen Elizabeth. Accused of literary theft, Shakespeare meets head-on all those who challenge his claim. There are Bacon, Marlowe, Jonson, Oxford, Wrothesley, Raleigh, Spenser, Chettle, Burbage, Greene, the Dark Lady, and many others all coming forth with wit and evidence to have their say. You — the audience — are jury but a surprise climax interrupts even that verdict. $7.95

SCHILLER COLLEGE EUROPE

GERMANY — FRANCE — SPAIN — ENGLAND

Typical of the demanding work and exhaustive attention to detail that awaits the serious theater student at Schiller College was the production of "Krapp's Last Tape". This most successful production, directed by George Lannan, head of the Theater Workshop Program at Schiller College Berlin, was invited by the Berliner Festwochen to be shown at their annual international theater festival in Berlin last fall.

The Theater Arts Program at Schiller College is a full liberal arts program centered in Berlin with a supplementary program in London. It offers the American theater student the unique opportunity of experiencing European theater at its finest while developing his own talents through direct and intensive work with American teachers active professionally in German theater.

"HUH..."

"A brilliant and fascinating movement poem. Never derivative, enormously original. Yves Lebreton and Gilles Maheu transformed themselves and their spectacular prop into object, subject, game, conflict, harmony. Viola Hegyi Swisher, After Dark Magazine.

"Possession", for its ambiguity, touches our preconscious because there's no imagery, no maya, to distract us from the unfolding of its themes. Yves Lebreton and Gilles Maheu are very supple, expressive, disciplined performers, and one of the many paradoxes of their compelling performance is that it couldn't be done in a more rigorously abstract mode, yet it moves as variously and closely within us as emotion itself."

"The best book on the new movements in theatre
anyone has written."

—JACK KROLL,
Drama Critic, Newsweek

"...[Jack Kroll continues] the only book that places these movements in the proper cultural background. Margaret Croyden was there [with Living Theatre, Open Theatre, Peter Brook, Jerzy Grotowski, and others] not as a hanger-on but as an involved, informed and beautifully responsive sensibility. She has an openness that is truly rare; she neither grinds any axes nor does she find any fake rationales for rejecting what's happening out there in the real world. I think it's remarkable how she is able to meet all those new stirrings in theatre on their own terms and still manage to see their strengths, their weaknesses and their inevitability so clearly."

Irving Wallace A Writer's Profile By John Leverence

There are 250,000,000 readers of Irving Wallace's books. Few of them know that the facts of his life are as fascinating as those characters he has made famous in his fiction. This Profile of the man and the writer is an introduction to the personality behind The Chapman Report, The Prize, The Three Sirens, The Man, The Plot, The Seven Minutes, The Word, and most recently, The Fan Club. Through correspondence, diaries, manuscript annotations, interviews and other sources, the Profile reveals the man who began as a sports stringer for a Wisconsin newspaper and is now one of the world's most popular novelists. This is the story of the long years that preceded his success, with an emphasis on his play and filmwriting activities. From photocopies of correspondence with Pulitzer Prize winning playwright Jerome Weidman, to transcripts from his studio screen plays, the Profile is a source book of great value to the student of the popular arts in America. 456 pages, including more than 200 pages of illustrations. Indexed. $6.95 Cloth.

Would you spend $6 for a magazine that shows you how to walk on water, raise the dead and make angels of mere mortals?

No miracle is too great for the behind-the-scenes professional.

Yours are the costumes and scenery that set Shaw's Inferno ablaze. Whose lighting brings out the best in Olivier. Whose direction keeps the freshman class from falling flat on its face.

And often you manage on what seems little more than a borrowed shoelace and your own creativity.

So to make the task a bit easier, there's THEATRE CRAFTS. The magazine with the professional know-how that helps you turn the impossible into the beautiful.

In each issue you'll discover a host of how-to articles on lighting, set design, make-up, costuming, music, film and so much more!

THEATRE CRAFTS® is diagrams and drawings. Candid, no-nonsense dialogues with backstage masters. And the best of the best from their decades of professional experience.

And it's all yours. In the magazine that's all yours.

THEATRE CRAFTS. Especially written for the people who never take a curtain call.

The Triumph of Horus
An Ancient Egyptian Sacred Drama
H. W. Fairman
The Triumph of Horus, the oldest complete play in the world, was engraved on the walls of the Temple of Edfu in Upper Egypt in 110 B.C. A written version probably existed in 1200 B.C., if not earlier. Mr. Fairman draws on his many years of close study of the play to explain its background and the way in which it was composed and reconstructed, in addition to discussing drama in Ancient Egypt.

Who's Who in the Theatre

The standard reference work of the English-speaking stage since the first edition in 1912, WHO'S WHO IN THE THEATRE has been vastly expanded to include over six hundred new biographies with greater emphasis than ever on North American stage personalities. An especially useful new feature is the inclusion of all playbills for every New York theatre (on and off-Broadway) and the Stratford, Ontario Festival for 1966-70.

CONTENTS INCLUDE

- General Index to London Playbills, 1921-65
- London, New York, Stratford-upon-Avon, Chichester and Stratford, Ontario Playbills
- Biography Section — 1164 pages, featuring major artists of the English-speaking stage
- Long Runs in London and New York
- Principal London and New York Theatres
- Centres for Theatre Research
- Honours in the Theatre
