

The Ralph Gomory Prize

The Ralph Gomory Prize of the Business History Conference (made possible by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation) recognizes historical work on the effect business enterprises have on the economic conditions of a country in which they operate. Two prizes of $5000 are awarded annually, one for a book and second for an article, and may be for work published in English in 2009 and 2010. The Gomory Prize will be presented at the annual meeting of the Business History Conference to be held in St. Louis, Missouri, March 31 to April 2, 2011. Book nominations are accepted from publishers and article nominations from the editor of the journal in which an article appears.

Four copies of a book or an electronic version of an article must accompany a nomination and be submitted to the Prize Coordinator, Carol Ressler Lockman, Business History Conference, PO Box 3630, 298 Buck Road, Wilmington DE 19807-0630 USA. Email: clockman@hagley.org.

The submission deadline is December 31, 2010.

The American Presidency

An Analytical Approach

Irwin L. Morris

University of Maryland, College Park

Paperback (ISBN-13: 9780521720434)

15 b/w illus. • 4 tables • 256 pages

August 2010

The American Presidency introduces the scientific study of the presidency while covering topics from theories of presidential power to the president's role in economic policymaking. Like no other text, it presents the latest scholarship on the presidency while providing students with the tools to draw their own reasoned conclusions about the presidency.

- Introduces the scientific approach to presidency research; it shows what scholars know about the presidency and how they know it.
- Includes 'guided research exercises' – straightforward opportunities for students to apply what they have learned about the presidency and social science.

“This book clearly demonstrates how to conduct political science research and challenges readers to tackle political puzzles about the presidency themselves.”

–Brendan J. Doherty, United States Naval Academy

“This is a terrific and frankly much-needed book.

Morris argues that we need to develop and test rigorous theories of the presidency, but he also provides practical guidance and insightful research ideas.

This is a must read for all undergraduate and graduate classes.”

–Richard W. Waterman, University of Kentucky

Offering Online Scholarship

Scholarship is central to APSA membership. Current and recent back issues of all three APSA journals are available online to members through Cambridge Journals Online. Members can also gain access to the full historical collection through JSTOR subscriptions. Political Research Online (PROL), a collaborative project led by APSA and a consortium of political science and related associations, houses 30,000 searchable conference papers.

Creating Networks and Connecting Scholars

APSA strives to provide valuable opportunities for members to network with colleagues, share ideas, and form relationships to drive their careers. Members receive discounts for APSA conferences—the Teaching and Learning Conference, Conference for Chairs, and the Annual Meeting—as well as access to the association's Organized Sections.

Providing Career and Employment Resources

APSA's eJobs is the most comprehensive online resource of political science employment opportunities and job candidates. It is fully searchable and updated daily with new job listings and candidate resumes. The eJobs placement service at the Annual Meeting brings employers and candidates together in person to greatly facilitate the hiring process.

Supporting Political Science Research

The Centennial Center for Political Science & Public Affairs, located at APSA's headquarters building, provides office space for scholars and students conducting field work in Washington, D.C. Through the Center, APSA also offers a number of research grant opportunities for scholars working in various subfields.

Education, Professional, and Diversity Programs

The American Political Science Association (founded in 1903) is a membership association that provides resources for research, networking, and professional development to its 15,000 members in the U.S. and abroad in the political science discipline. The APSA Office of Education, Professional and Diversity Programs offers resources to students and faculty alike. APSA is dedicated to the promotion of excellence in the areas of education, professional development, and diversity.

Please share the following list of APSA programs with your departments, colleagues, and students and visit www.apsanet.org/education for more information.

Education Programs and Initiatives

One key component of APSA's mission is to support political science education and to promote high quality teaching and education about politics and government:

- Graduate Student Outreach
- Grants, Funding and Fellowship Resources
- Political Science Education Organized Section
- Committee on Civic Education and Engagement
- Teaching and Learning Conference

Professional Development Programs

APSA seeks to enhance the professional development of its practitioners by providing academic and non-academic opportunities for members:

- APSA Mentoring Initiative
- APSA Annual Meeting
- Undergraduate/Graduate Student Membership
- eJobs: APSA's online job database
- eJobs Annual Meeting Placement Interview Service
- Career Resources and pamphlets
- Job Candidate Questions to Ask
- Professional networking tools and newsletters

APSA Diversity Initiatives

Part of the APSA mission is to enhance diversity in the political science discipline. To that end, APSA provides several programs and resources to assist students from underrepresented groups who are considering an advanced degree in political science.

- APSA Minority Fellows Program (MFP) (seniors or MA students)
- Ralph Bunche Summer Institute (RBSI) (juniors)
- Minority Student Recruitment Project (MSRP) (undergraduates)
- APSA Mentoring Initiative (students, junior faculty)

For more information, visit www.apsanet.org/education or contact epd@apsanet.org.

APSA STATE OF THE PROFESSION SERIES Publishing Political Science

This guide to publishing in political science provides practical advice from leading political scientists and publishers. The book opens with a discussion of the state of publishing and review of publishing opportunities for political science.

The second part covers writing for particular venues and audiences such as literature reviews, textbooks, journals, blogs, and reference books. The third section provides practical advice from publishers on how to get your work published, including writing successful book proposals, establishing sound contract with a publisher, and understanding the journal peer review process.

A useful guide for ALL political scientists

Centennial Center for Political Science & Public Affairs

Research Opportunities in Washington, D.C.

I enjoyed my stay in Washington D.C. immensely, and the high quality facilities and friendly staff at the Centennial Center made it a great base from which to conduct my fieldwork. I found the facilities to be well located making it easy to travel to my interviews and use the National Security Archive at GWU. Coming to Washington as an international scholar, I found it helpful when securing key interviews to have the support of such a respected organization.

— Emma Briant, University of Glasgow

Created in celebration of the American Political Science Association centennial, the Centennial Center for Political Science and Public Affairs encourages research, writing, and collaboration among scholars working within the discipline.

The Center, located in Association headquarters in D.C., assists scholars from the United States and abroad whose research and teaching could benefit from a stay in and access to the incomparable resources in the nation's capital. The Center has space for ten visiting scholars for extended periods of time ranging from a few weeks to a year.

The Center features:

- personal work space
- computer, high-speed internet, and wireless
- personal phone, fax, and printing
- flexible scheduling for long and short stays
- convenient downtown location, metro accessible
- meeting and conference room facilities
- reference library
- night and weekend access
- community of scholars
- access to: U.S. government, Library of Congress, National Archives, World Bank, International Monetary Fund, USAID, national party headquarters, embassies from around the world, Organization of American States, etc.

Funding Opportunities

As a result of generous contributions by members and friends, APSA developed endowments for grant programs that may support stays at the Centennial Center.

Applications may be submitted throughout the year and will be reviewed on a rolling basis. If you would like to be considered for funding, it is recommended that you apply before February 28.

How Does eJobs Work?

Job Candidates

APSA members can access all open job listings and post their resume online to share with prospective employers by logging in to their MyAPSA account. The service is free exclusively for APSA members. Only APSA members can access the job listings or post their resumes to share with prospective employers. Nonmembers who are interested in the service are encouraged to join APSA.

Employers

Employers who are APSA Departmental Services Program (DSP) members may post an unlimited number of job listings to share with prospective candidates and may search the available resumes free of charge. Employers who are not DSP members may advertise positions for a fee. Non-member employers who have posted a job listing can also access the candidate resumes.

Member and non-member employers can access eJobs by logging in to www.apsanet.org with their DSP login. Non-member employers: for more information on the DSP, contact dsp@apsanet.org.

Printed Job Listings in the PS: Political Science and Politics Supplement

APSA prints eJobs job listings in a supplement to the APSA journal PS: Political Science & Politics. The supplement accompanies PS each quarter (January, April, July and October) and includes job listings, upcoming conferences, tables of contents of forthcoming APSA journals, and other news in the profession. The print listing is free of charge to employers who post job listings on eJobs.

STATA®

The screenshot displays the Stata 11 software interface. On the left, the 'Data Editor (Edit)' window shows a list of variables and their values. The central 'Command' window contains the following code:

. use auto, clear
. mi set wide
. mi register imputed y x1 x2 x3
. mi impute mvn y x1 x2, add(5)
mi impute mvn y x1 x2, add(5)

The 'Results' window shows the output of these commands, including the observed log likelihood and the number of imputations. On the right, a graph titled 'Fuel economy and automobile weight' plots 'mpg' (Miles per gallon) against 'weight' (Weight in pounds). The regression equation shown is $mpg^i = \alpha + \beta weight + \epsilon$. The graph shows a negative correlation between weight and fuel economy.

The next step in statistical computing.

What's New: multiple imputation (MI), competing-risks survival regression, generalized method of moments (GMM), multivariate GARCH, state-space models, dynamic-factor models, predictive margins, panel-data unit-root tests, factor variables, marginal analysis, variables manager, code-folding editor, filtering data and variables, object-oriented programming, PDF documentation, and more
