

M E T H U E N

A HISTORY OF CYNICISM

From Diogenes to the Sixth Century, A.D.

By DONALD R. DUDLEY

Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge; Henry Fellow at Yale University

'Mr. Dudley has done his work well, . . . and this readable and fully annotated history will stand for a long time.'—Church Times.

Demy 8vo.

12s. 6d. net.

ANCIENT CYPRUS

Its Art and Archæology

By STANLEY CASSON

Reader in Classical Archæology, University of Oxford

'As an introduction to a fascinating subject Mr. Casson's essay is welcome, and his photographs are excellent.'

J. L. MYRES in The Listener.

Crown 8vo.

7s. 6d. net.

36 ESSEX STREET, LONDON, W.C. 1

New Edition, revised by Stanley Casson

Greece and the Aegean

By Professor E. A. GARDNER. With Preface by Lord Rennell and a Chapter on Constantinople by Stanley Casson, M.A., Reader in Classical Archaeology in the University of Oxford. Illustrated. 7s. 6d. net

This invaluable book for travellers to Greece, the Islands, and the Eastern Mediterranean remains unique in its field after several years. Mr Casson has brought it up to date in the light of recent archaeological discoveries and has added or amplified many passages, especially those dealing with places which are now on the itinerary of cruising ships. New illustrations have been substituted for a dozen of those which appeared in the original edition, and the general map has been improved.

From all Booksellers. Descriptive leaflet from

HARRAP, 182 HIGH HOLBORN, LONDON, W.C.1