New Research from AAS

“To Die and Not Decay: Autobiography and the Pursuit of Immortality in Early China” is the only book-length study to date on early Chinese autobiographical writing and the cultural issues surrounding this particular genre. This book will appeal to scholars of Chinese history, literature, religion, and culture. It will have an important effect on our views of medieval China and the texts that it produced.

“Modern Short Fiction of Southeast Asia: A Literary History” surveys the historical and cultural significance of modern short fiction in nine Southeast Asian nations—Laos, Cambodia, Myanmar/Burma, Singapore, Malaysia, Indonesia, the Philippines, Thailand, and Vietnam.

Edited by Teri Shaffer Yamada

“Prescribing Colonization” provides a carefully-researched analysis of the establishment of medical practices in Taiwan during Japanese colonial rule. Through this vivid analysis of the institutions, people, and ideals of Japanese state medicine in the ‘model colony’ of Taiwan, Michael Liu reveals the commonalities and contrasts between Asian and European imperialisms. A welcome addition to the growing body of transnational scholarship on the histories of medicine, science, and technology in the colonial world.

Prescribing Colonization: The Role of Medical Practices and Policies in Japan-Ruled Taiwan, 1895-1945, Michael Shiyung Liu

“Tools of Culture” addresses aspects of Japanese human and material interactions in East Asia from the late eleventh through the late sixteenth centuries, a period coincident with Japan’s late classical and medieval eras.

Each chapter provides a different perspective on the interactions—travel, trade, texts, religion, poetry, medicine, and art—rippling through Japanese society and across the waters that joined Japan and the continent.

Key Issues in Asian Studies

CASTE IN INDIA

Diane Mines

"Diane Mines has produced a clear and compelling introduction to one of the world's most complex and misunderstood social systems.

This booklet offers an exhaustive overview of the anthropology and history of caste based on extensive reading and over two decades of ethnographic research in rural South India. It also speaks to the wider political and economic dimensions of caste as it is lived and debated in India today. Caste in India will be a most welcome addition to introductory courses in anthropology, history, sociology, geography, and political science."

EARLY KOREA

THE SAMHAN PERIOD
IN KOREAN HISTORY

Mark E. Byington, Editor

2009, 208 pages, over 90 illustrations, $30.00, Paper
ISBN 978-0-9795800-3-1

Early Korea, a publication of the Early Korea Project at the Korea Institute, Harvard University, is a series designed to promote and develop studies of early Korean history and archaeology in the English language. While these fields are active and dynamic in East Asia, they are only beginning to develop in English-language scholarship. Early Korea provides a forum for scholarly articles focused on studies of Korean history, archaeology and art history prior to the tenth century. Each volume features a section dedicated to several articles focused on a selected theme, along with articles on timely issues in the fields of early Korean history and archaeology as well as studies on the academic fields themselves.

The second volume, "The Samhan Period in Korean History," features three articles examining historical developments and trade relations in the southern part of the Korean peninsula prior to the fourth century A.D., as well as a survey of historical sources available for the study of this period. Other articles present an annotated translation of primary source materials related to the study of the Samhan period and an overview of one of the important archaeological sites associated with Samhan society. The sixth article offers a look at the development of the field of art history in Korea through biographical treatments of two of its pioneers.

ONE COUNTRY, TWO SOCIETIES RURAL-URBAN INEQUALITY IN CONTEMPORARY CHINA

EDITED BY MARTIN KING WHYTE

This timely and important collection of original essays analyzes China's foremost social cleavage: the rural-urban gap. It is now clear that the Chinese communist revolution created a rural order akin to serfdom, in which 80 percent of the population was effectively bound to the land. The reforms of 1978 changed basic aspects of economic and social life in China's villages and cities but some important institutions and practices have changed only marginally or not at all.

COLLECTING ASIA: East Asian Libraries in North America, 1868–2008

Peter X. Zhou, Editor

An essential book for all scholars of East Asia

Written by leading East Asia specialists, librarians, and scholars, Collecting Asia offers a fascinating look at the founding and development of twenty-five major East Asian libraries in North America. This unique volume provides us with a look at the events and people that shaped these collections. Through carefully documented histories, we are introduced to the pioneering figures—from collector-explorers to scholar-librarians—who were instrumental in bringing books and artifacts from Asia to North America. This history of acquisition provides remarkable insight into our cultural legacies.

East Asia libraries featured in this landmark volume include those of:

Library of Congress • Harvard University • University of California, Berkeley • Columbia University • Yale University • University of Michigan • Princeton University • University of Chicago • Cornell University • University of British Columbia • University of Washington • University of California, Los Angeles • Stanford University • University of Toronto • University of Pittsburgh • University of Hawaii • Indiana University • Ohio State University • University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign • University of Kansas • University of Pennsylvania • University of California, San Diego • Duke University • University of Minnesota • University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Richly illustrated and engagingly written, Collecting Asia is vital book for scholars, librarians, students, and anyone with an interest in Asia and the history behind these important collections.

Japan Transformed

Political Change and Economic Restructuring
Frances McCall Rosenbluth & Michael F. Thies

“This book offers a new definitive statement of the rational institutionalist take on Japanese politics. Its main claims are carefully presented with appropriate qualifications and nuance, while its most provocative claim—that significant change in Japanese policy has been driven by electoral reforms adopted in the 1990s—will provoke discussion and debate.”
—Leonard Schoppa, University of Virginia

Cloth $65.00 978-0-691-13591-5

China and the Vocation of History in the Twentieth Century

A Personal Memoir
Frederick W. Mote

Frederick Mote, one of the twentieth century's most prominent Sinologists, has written a historian's memoir that uses observation and personal experiences to understand the intellectual and social transformation of China. Mote's thought-provoking narrative distills his reflections on modern China and details change in Chinese historical studies in the twentieth century.

A Kaleidoscope of China

An Advanced Reader of Modern Chinese
Chih-p'ing Chou, Jingyu Wang, Joanne Chiang & Hua-Hui Wei

“Chou and his colleagues have once again produced a superb Chinese language textbook. This crack team of seasoned teachers is probably the best in the world when it comes to teaching Chinese as a second language. A Kaleidoscope of China presents a veritable feast of fascinating essays.”
—James M. Hargett, University at Albany, State University of New York

Paper $49.50 978-0-691-14691-1

China's New Confucianism

Politics and Everyday Life in a Changing Society
Daniel A. Bell

“There is no better scholar on a West and East dialogue than Professor Bell. . . . [He] observes Chinese society as an outsider and insider, with distance yet intimacy, seeing more things than either and in more novel ways.”
—Yan Sun, Journal of Chinese Political Science

EAST ASIAN HISTORY: A Tripolar Approach

The revised edition of
Korea and Japan in East Asian History:
a Tripolar Approach (Kudara: 2006)
that was reviewed as:

“... as a sweeping historical work, it is difficult to find another publication that integrates so much material from across such swaths of time and space. Much of this is new to general English readers, precisely because the two northern regions and their effect on Chinese dynastic formation were long neglected in China scholarship—Hong’s main point. For this synthesis, we therefore have Hong to thank for bringing all these disparate data to our attention.”

Gina L. Barnes, SOAS, University of London
Korean Studies, Vol. 31, 2007

ANCIENT KOREA-JAPAN RELATIONS: Paekche and the Origin of the Yamato Dynasty

The revised edition of
Relationship between Korea and Japan in Early Period: Paekche and Yamato Wa (Ilsimsa: 1988) and
Paekche of Korea and the Origin of Yamato Japan (Kudara: 1994) that were reviewed as:

“Wontack Hong goes a step beyond the horserider theory in this scholarly and provocative work, which sheds new light on early Korea and Japan through ... From the perspective of Korean archaeology the arguments ring true.”

Sarah M. Nelson, University of Denver
The Journal of Asian Studies, Vol. 48:4, 1989

“... it does contribute a fresh and intellectually rewarding perspective on one of the most significant and problematic issues in northeast Asian history.”

Jonathan W. Best, Wesleyan University
Journal of Japanese Studies, Vol. 16:2, 1990

“... the book has gathered in one place a great many of the main arguments on either side ... Further, Hong can muster creditable, almost convincing arguments for his central hypothesis.”

Leon Serafim, University of Hawaii at Manoa
Korean Studies, Vol. 19, 1995

“Hong does make explicit the political ramifications of the present interpretation of Japanese and Korean ancient history, which is an important contribution in itself.”

Sarah M. Nelson, University of Denver
The Journal of Asian Studies, Vol. 54:3, 1995

International Journal of Asian Studies

Editor:

Takeshi Hamashita
Ryukoku University, Kyoto, Japan

Published in association with the Institute for Advanced Studies on Asia, University of Tokyo

International Journal of Asian Studies (IJAS) is an interdisciplinary, English-language forum for research in the social sciences and humanities. IJAS examines Asia on a regional basis, emphasising patterns and tendencies that go beyond the borders of individual countries. It is particularly interested in locating contemporary changes within a historical framework, especially using interdisciplinary approaches, and so promotes comparative studies involving the various regions of Asia. As well as encouraging contributions from western scholars, IJAS focuses attention on the work of Asian scholars, in order to encourage multi-directional communication across the international Asian studies community. It includes both themed and general issues.

Visiting Fellowships in Washington, D.C.

Northeast Asia, South Asia and Southeast Asia programs

The East-West Center in Washington is accepting applications from scholars and analysts who wish to undertake policy-relevant research and writing. Three fellowship programs are available: Northeast Asia, South Asia and Southeast Asia. Research topics should focus on international relations of Asia, political change in Asia, U.S.-Asia relations or (for Southeast Asia only) ASEAN integration and community-building efforts.

Fellowships will start in Autumn 2011 and last 3 months. A monthly stipend of US$2,500 to $4,500 (dependent upon experience) while in residence and round-trip airfare to Washington, D.C., will be provided. A small field research grant may also be available. Applicants with or without a Ph.D. will be considered; those without a Ph.D. will be considered based on their relevant professional experience. Applicants must be nationals of a country in Asia, or the United States, and be eligible to receive a fellowship stipend. Applications should include a cover letter, a full CV, two letters of reference, and a policy-relevant research proposal and are due October 15, 2010. For full application details, please see:

EastWestCenter.org/scholarships-fellowships

Asia Matters for America

Ever wonder how the United States and Asia interact across multiple variables? Now you can find out! Asia Matters for America is the "go-to place" for information, data and analysis of U.S.-Asia interactions. This graphical, interactive website displays data on trade, employment, ethnicity and students at the level of U.S. states and congressional districts, from credible, non-partisan sources.

Newly released in 2010, ASEAN Matters for America / America Matters for ASEAN explains the importance of the 10 countries of the ASEAN region of Southeast Asia to the United States, and vice versa. Like the Asia Matters for America mothership, it provides easily-understood, graphical data and analysis on major flows between the two regions in trade, investment, ethnicity, students and people-to-people relations. In collaboration with the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies.

AsiaMattersforAmerica.org

The East-West Center promotes better relations and understanding among the people and nations of the United States, Asia, and the Pacific through cooperative study, research, and dialogue. Established by the U.S. Congress in 1960, the Center serves as a resource for information and analysis on critical issues of common concern, bringing people together to exchange views, build expertise, and develop policy options

Completed manuscripts may be sent electronically to the above address.

Please send all books for review to the Association office in Ann Arbor; see Contact Information: Books for Review below.

REQUIREMENTS FOR MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

When preparing a manuscript, please note that JAS is committed to publishing articles based on in-depth, original research. Authors should also take care to address the interests of our broad, multidisciplinary readership by raising larger questions of interest that reach beyond their precise research specialties. Authors are encouraged to consult recent issues of JAS for guidance on style and formatting.

- Please submit inquiries, manuscripts and images electronically to the Editor at jas@journalofasianstudies.org. Electronic text should use MS Word-compatible software; include a PDF file if using non-standard characters. Low-resolution images and illustrations are acceptable for the review process; all images, tables and figures should include titles or captions. Please note that in the event of publication, the author is responsible for acquiring high-resolution images along with permission to publish them. If electronic submission is not possible, please contact the editorial office at the email address, phone number or fax number listed above.
- Article manuscripts, including notes and references, should range between 8,000 and 10,000 words, or approximately thirty-five pages in length, and must include a 150 word abstract at the beginning of the document.
- Authors' names must be left off of the manuscript, as JAS engages in double-blind reviews.
- Manuscripts must be double-spaced with 12-point type and 1 inch margins including extracts, notes, and references, and formatted for letter-size (8.5 × 11 in.) paper if possible.
- Notes should be as few as possible and appear at the end of the text.
- Use parenthetical in-text citation, and author-date formatting for references per Chicago Manual of Style, 15th edition (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2003), pp. 616–24.
- Please use the following Romanization: Chinese: Pinyin; Japanese: Hepburn; Korean: McCune-Reischauer.
- Paper manuscript submissions are acceptable if electronic submission is not possible. Please include four copies of your document in the submission packet.
- Manuscripts submitted to JAS should not have been published elsewhere and should not be under review for publication elsewhere.

Articles in JAS represent neither the views of the Association for Asian Studies nor those of the JAS editors. The Editor is responsible for the final selection of content of JAS and reserves the right to reject any material deemed inappropriate for publication. Responsibility for opinions expressed and the accuracy of facts published in articles and reviews rests solely with the individual authors.
