

language teaching

Editorial

The journal aims to help people concerned with the teaching and learning of languages to keep up to date with the latest findings in research, language studies and applied linguistics. Work carried out in different parts of the world and reported in different languages is made accessible by means of abstracts written in English.

Members of the Editorial Board scan some 200 journals from many countries in order to select and abstract the most useful and significant articles. Most of the abstracts are specially written by a team of abstractors who are specialists in the subjects concerned. Where author or journal abstracts are used, they may be edited in keeping with this journal's policy to present the author's arguments and findings. It is therefore not essential for readers to have access to the original articles, though these may be consulted at the CILT or British Council libraries (see facing page for details). Photocopies of articles may be obtained by libraries or individuals in the usual manner through the International Photocopy Service of the British Library Lending Division, Boston Spa, Wetherby, West Yorkshire, United Kingdom, LS23 7BQ.

Beginning with this issue, a new section in the April and October issues of the journal will be devoted to work carried out for the Modern Languages projects of the Council of Europe. Articles by the researchers have been specially selected and commissioned for readers of Language Teaching.

How to use the journal

The abstracts are normally divided into four main subject areas; Language learning and teaching – theory and practice; Teaching particular languages; Research in the supporting sciences, and Language description and use. These subject areas are subdivided into several different categories, and abstracts arranged alphabetically by author's name within each category.

A full list of the periodicals scanned appears in each January issue. Asterisks denote periodicals from which articles were abstracted in the preceding year. Initials show whether the periodical is kept in the CILT or British Council library.

The heading for each abstract gives the author's name, and affiliation if this was given in the original article. The title of the article is given in the language of the original article, with an English translation in square brackets if necessary. All abstracts are written in English. Views expressed are those of the author and not of the abstractor or editor.

Subject and author indexes appear in each issue, and are accumulated annually in the October issue.

State of the art (survey) articles

Recent titles: Intercultural communication; Business English; Needs analysis; Project evaluation; Narrative analysis; Self-managed learning; Contrastive studies; Pragmatics Part 1: Co-operation, Part 2: Politeness; Language planning and policy making in Europe; A cross-cultural view of learning styles.

Forthcoming topics: Residence abroad within language study.

In the next issue: Brian Parkinson and Marie Gilroy on the teaching of literature.

Copying

This journal is registered with the Copyright Clearance Center, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923. Organisations in the USA who are also registered with C.C.C. may therefore copy material (beyond the limits permitted by sections 107 and 108 of US copyright law) subject to payment to C.C.C. of the per-copy fee of $5.00. This consent does not extend to multiple copying for promotional or commercial purposes. Code 0261-4448/96.

Organisations authorised by the Copyright Licensing Agency may also copy material subject to the usual conditions.

ISI Tear Sheet Service, 3501 Market Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104, USA, is authorised to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only.

For all other use, permission should be sought from the Cambridge or New York offices of the Cambridge University Press.

Information on language teaching and all other Cambridge journals is available on <http://www.cup.cam.ac.uk/> and in North America on <http://www.cup.org/>.

Subscriptions

The subscription price (excluding VAT) of Volume 29, 1996, is £59.00 net (US $102.00 in USA, Canada and Mexico) for institutions: £29.00 (US $53.00 in USA, Canada and Mexico) for individuals when ordering direct from the Press and certifying that the journal is for their personal use. Single parts cost £17.00 (US $28.00 in USA, Canada and Mexico) plus postage.

Four issues of language teaching (ISSN 0261-4448) (published in January, April, July and October) form a volume. A complete volume may be purchased at the subscription price (which includes postage) if payment is made before publication of the volume is complete.

Orders, which must be accompanied by payment, may be sent to a bookseller or to Cambridge University Press, The Edinburgh Building, Shaftesbury Road, Cambridge CB2 2RU or in the USA, Canada or Mexico, to Cambridge University Press, The Journals Department, 40 West 20th Street, New York, NY 10011-4211, USA. EU subscribers (outside the UK) who are not registered for VAT should add VAT at their country's rate. VAT registered subscribers should provide their VAT registration number. Japanese prices for institutions (including ASP delivery) are available from Kinokuniya Company Ltd, P.O. Box 55, Chitose, Tokyo 156, Japan.

Second class postage paid at New York, NY and at additional mailing offices, POSTMASTER: send address changes in USA, Canada and Mexico to language teaching, Cambridge University Press, 101 Midland Avenue, Port Chester, New York, NY 10573-4930.