

From the feudal infighting of the Tokugawa shoguns to today's international eminence, Japan has utterly transformed itself over the last century and a half.

In chronicling the involvement of her own family members in the period's tumultuous events, Haru Reischauer provides an endlessly fascinating personal perspective on this era of unprecedented change.

Her two grandfathers – one a provincial samurai, the other a silk merchant residing in the United States – produced children and grandchildren of exceptional talent and energy. Their activities include statecraft, politics, education, finance, art, culture, and the development of such major industrial entities as Mitsubishi and Kawasaki.

Copying

This journal is registered with the Copyright Clearance Center, 21 Congress St., Salem, Mass. 01970. Organizations in the USA who are also registered with CCC may therefore copy material (beyond the limits permitted by sections 107 and 108 of US Copyright law) subject to payment to CCC of the per-copy fee indicated in the code on the first page of the article. This consent does not extend to multiple copying for promotional or commercial purposes.

ISI Tear Service, 3501 Market Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104, USA, is authorised to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only.

For all other use, permission should be sought from Cambridge or the American Branch of Cambridge University Press.

Claims for missing issues should be made immediately upon receipt of the subsequent issue.

Modern Asian Studies is concerned with the history, geography, politics, sociology, literature, economics and social anthropology of South Asia, South-East Asia, China and Japan.

Contributions should be based on original research or field-work. They should be between 2000 and 8000 words long. Two typed copies should be submitted. Each author will receive twenty-five free offprints of his article and a copy of the Journal in which it appears.

Submission of an article will be taken to imply that it has not been previously published and that it is not on offer to any other publisher. In the interests of authors, copyright is normally assigned to Cambridge University Press. The editor welcomes expression of all shades of opinion, but responsibility for them rests with their authors. All correspondence should be addressed to Dr Gordon Johnson, Selwyn College, Cambridge CB3 9DQ, England.
