Aims and Scope

"Health Policy" is intended to be a vehicle for the exploration and discussion of health policy issues and is aimed in particular at enhancing communications between health policy researchers, legislators, decision-makers, and other professionals concerned with implementing policy particularly in the industrialised nations.

The journal encourages the submission of original, empirically based, comparative and/or global studies particularly on the following subjects.

1. The effectiveness of strategies employed to prevent disease and to promote health.
2. The equity of distribution of health resources in the public and private health sectors.
3. The delivery of health care to vulnerable population groups such as the elderly.
4. The effectiveness of alternative approaches to containing health care costs.
5. Variations in medical practice.

In order to achieve the journal's objectives, authors are encouraged to write in a non-technical style which is understandable to health policy practitioners and specialists from other disciplines.

International Journal of Technology Assessment in Health Care

Instructions for Contributors

The editors welcome submissions of papers which deal with the wide range of topics related to technology assessment in health care—policy, practice, diffusion, economics, ethics, law, and social and cultural perspectives. Authors should send three copies of their manuscript and reserve one copy for their use in checking proofs. Articles must be in English. Spelling, capitalization, and punctuation must be consistent within each article and conform with the latest edition of A Manual of Style (University of Chicago Press). Articles and correspondence should be sent to:

Stanley J. Reiser, M.D., Ph.D.
Health Science Center at Houston
P.O. Box 20708
6431 Fannin, Suite 1.500
Houston, Texas 77225

or

Egon Jonsson, Ph.D.
The Karolinska Institute and Spr
Department of Medicine
Huddinge University Hospital
Huddinge, Sweden

Preparation of manuscript. A separate title page should be prepared carrying the article title, auxiliary short title (not over 50 characters), the author's full name (in the form preferred for publication), and author's affiliation (including mailing address and phone number).

Figures should be ready for photographic reproduction; they cannot be redrawn by the printer. Charts, graphs, or other artwork should be drawn in black ink on white paper to occupy a standard area of 8½ by 11 or 8½ by 5 inches before reduction. All labels and details on figures should be clearly printed (or done in transfer type of a sans-serif face such as Helvetica) and should be large enough to remain legible after a reduction to half size.

References and notes. Bibliographic citations in the text are indicated by in-line numbers in parentheses; the numbers in the text correspond to numbers that directly precede each reference.

EXAMPLE

Text

"...Jones and Smith (1) maintained that..."

Reference (Book)

1. Jones, A. B., & Smith, J. K. Computer diagnosis and results. New York: Penta Publishers, 1978

Reference (Journal)

1. Jones, A. B., & Smith, J. K. The relationship between health needs, the hospital and the patient. Journal of Chronic Diseases, 1985, 32, 310-12.

Reference (Article in edited work)

1. Jones, A. B., & Smith, J. K. The diagnostic process. In R. Brown & T. Wilson (eds.), New technology and its medical consequences, vol. 1. New York: Apple Publishers, 1972, 101-34.

If more than one reference is cited at a specific place in the text, commas should separate each reference number, unless page numbers are included in which case semi-colons should separate each set of reference number and page numbers.

Multiple reference without page numbers

...this system has been dealt with at length in the literature (1, 3, 12, 14).

Multiple citation with page numbers

...This system has been dealt with at length (1, 1-10; 3, 5-15; 12, 25-57; 14, 102-146).

The reference list must be in alphabetical order. Titles of journals should not be abbreviated.

When more than simple source citation is called for, footnotes may be used. These should be numbered consecutively throughout the text and typed together on a separate page following references. Source citations within footnotes follow the same parameters of style as citations in text.

Copyediting and proofreading. The publishers reserve the right to copyedit and proofread all articles accepted for publication, but authors will be asked to review their copyedited manuscripts if changes have been substantial. Page proofs of articles will be sent to authors for correction of typographical errors only.

General. Authors receive 25 offprints of their article free of charge; additional numbers may be purchased if ordered at proof stage. Submission of an article implies that it has not been published elsewhere. Authors are responsible for obtaining written permission to publish material for which they do not own the copyright. Contributors will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press.
