

Performance Research

GENERAL EDITOR

Richard Gough, Centre for Performance Research and University of Wales, Aberystwyth, UK

JOINT EDITORS

Claire MacDonald, Freelance Writer and Editor, Washington DC, USA
Ric Allsopp, Dartington College of Arts, Totnes, UK

Performance Research brings together informed critical writing with the work of new and established artists within an exciting exchange of ideas, images and analysis. The innovative and flexible format charts the often difficult and unstable field of contemporary art and performance. The journal is international in scope, with an emphasis on contemporary European performance in both old and new media.

"fulfills a genuine need...the journal's most convincing writing captures, through an interdisciplinary approach, the essence of contemporary performances...Such well-written, informative and stimulating articles give performance art credibility."
Ian Mitchell, The Times Higher Educational Supplement

Performance Research features documents, original art and text works, new scholarship and criticism, profiles of individual artists and companies as well as book, archive and performance reviews.

The Tempest

Edited by Christine Dymkowski

TEXTBOOK

This edition of The Tempest is the first dedicated to its stage history. Dymkowski examines four centuries of mainstream, regional, and fringe productions in Britain, nineteenth- and twentieth-century American stagings, and recent Australian, Canadian, French, Italian, and Japanese productions, analysing the cultural significance of changes in theatrical representation.

Shakespeare in Production

Coriolanus

Edited by Lee Bliss

TEXTBOOK

Coriolanus is one of Shakespeare's most remarkable tragedies. This edition presents the story of the protagonist's downfall within an exploration of the political life of a community; it is alert throughout to the play's theatrical potential and to the politics of its performance from the 1680s to the 1990s.
