COMPUTERS IN SPECIAL EDUCATION? YES – IN SCHOOLS AND HOMES

We believe that microcomputers have a very important place in Special Education

- a verbal but non-oral way of teaching the deaf
- stimulating and exciting teaching for the 'motivationally' handicapped
- excellent for interesting repetitive (drill) teaching for L.D. and M.R.
- easily adapted for use by the physically handicapped
- ideal for enrichment for the gifted (they're great for 'regular' kids too!)

WHAT SORT OF MICRO COMPUTER SHOULD I BUY?

- IT MUST:
1. be durable, expandable and have plenty of RAM
  2. be backed by after-sales service
  3. have educational software available
  4. be compatible with most other schools near you.

SO – Buy the largest selling micro for schools –

SPECIAL EDUCATION CENTRES OF INTEREST

AN INVITATION

In each edition of this Journal, we include a brief report on an interesting Special Education Centre.

The purpose of this feature is to develop awareness of particular agencies which are serving an interesting or unusual role in Special Education.

We hereby invite people to submit articles about Special Education Centres of interest.
