Bulgaria During the Second World War

Marshall Lee Miller. Based on archive materials from five countries and on extensive personal interviews, this study offers the first full account of Bulgaria's complicated wartime history, from its initial attempts to remain uninvolved, through its partial and reluctant alliance with Germany, to its diplomatic decline after the mysterious death of Tsar Boris following a visit to Hitler in 1943. Monatshefte

A professional journal serving the interests of teachers of German primarily at the college level.

Monatshefte publishes scholarly articles of general interest dealing with the language and literature of the German-speaking countries, and with cultural matters which have literary or linguistic significance.

Each issue contains a book review section, news and notes of special interest to teachers.

The Fall issue features "Personalia," a complete listing of faculty by rank at college and universities in the United States and Canada, visiting professors, doctoral dissertations, staff changes and promotions.

Monatshefte has been published in Wisconsin since 1899 and is issued quarterly.

THE HISTORICAL ESSAYS OF OTTO HINTZE

Edited by Felix Gilbert, with the assistance of Robert M. Berdahl

"Otto Hintze, long known as an historian's historian and a kind of esoteric treasure, is now at last easily available in this superb selection of his essays. . . . The value of Hintze's essays is enhanced by Felix Gilbert's introduction, which in itself is a gem of historical analysis. —This book will be indispensable."—Fritz Stern, Columbia University

"The present collection of essays introduces to English-speaking readers the work of a scholar who initiated the comparative study of political development more than a generation ago. . . . a scholarly work of the first rank."—Reinhard Bendix, University of California, Berkeley

"As a student, and teacher, of German history I welcome this translated collection of valuable pieces by one of the great figures of turn-of-the-century historical scholarship."—Franklin Ford, Harvard University
