THE REVIEW OF POLITICS

A General Cultural Journal with a dominantly political and historical appraisal of current problems in world affairs

The Idea

"It was apparent at once that we did not want a political or historical review construed in any narrow sense, although we had no instinct to ignore the presentation, in the way of science, of facts, techniques and processes. What we desired was a kind of universal publication drawing constantly upon the past and ranging into every serious field of intellectual action. We wanted, actually, to revive the Aristotelian conception of politics, a sovereign conception that embraced everything, every interest, every event, every idea affecting the life of man in the human community. Even more, we wanted to bring to bear upon the special problems raised by modern culture the illumination of a valid spiritual and philosophical tradition, an illumination best described perhaps as the Christian world-view."

A penetrating analysis of
The Prospects for Communist China

By W. W. ROSTOW, Professor of Economic History and Director of the China Project, The Massachusetts Institute of Technology; with the collaboration of Richard W. Hatch, Frank A. Kierman, Jr., and Alexander Eckstein.

This book tells the full story of what has happened, is happening, and may happen in today's China. It probes the motives and policies of a regime whose prospects are sure to shape world history. For the first time, Peking's plans—and its ability to achieve them—are interpreted in the hard light of facts.

This extraordinary report was written by a former Assistant Chief in the Department of State and a group of Far East experts at the Center for International Studies, M.I.T. W. W. Rostow explores in highly readable style Red China's past, her present relationship to Russia and the West, her economic and social problems, and her intentions in Asia.

Survey of Current Research on the Middle East

The Middle East Institute, a private organization in Washington, D.C., is preparing for publication an annual Survey of Current Research on the Middle East. The purpose of this Survey is to provide scholars and educational institutions with information on what research has recently been completed or is now being undertaken in the field.

Definition of research: (1) accumulation of original data; (2) classification of original data; (3) interpretation of data previously accumulated; (4) reinterpretation of data previously studied; (5) translation, bibliography, vocabulary, etc., with annotation.

Geographical limits: the Arab countries, Israel, Afghanistan, Iran, Turkey, North Africa, the Sudan, Ethiopia and Eritrea.

Disciplinary limits: emphasis on the social sciences, but including all related aspects of the humanities and natural sciences.

Chronological limits: none (ancient, medieval, and modern).

All those who are currently engaged in research on the Middle East, or have completed such research since October 1, 1954, are urged to submit the following information: name, address, topic of investigation, sponsoring organization (if any), date of completion or estimated date if still in progress, and pertinent comments on the nature of the research, sources being used, and method of approach.

The Economic Development of Japan

Growth and Structural Change, 1868-1938

By William W. Lockwood

The author describes and analyzes one of the most dramatic and meaningful phenomena in the history of modern nations—the amazingly rapid rise of Japan from agrarianism to a pre-war position as one of the world's leading industrial powers. Students of Japanese affairs will turn to this book for a fresh interpretation of the building of the modern Japanese economy, but because of its wider significance, it will also interest all those concerned with Asia and economic development in general. 612 pages. Charts, $10.
