

Brewer Prize Contest

The American Society of Church History announces a prize competition for a book-length manuscript in the field of church history. The award will consist of a grant of one thousand dollars to assist the author in the publication of the winning manuscript, which shall be described on its title-page as the "Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize Essay of The American Society of Church History" and shall be published in a manner acceptable to the Society. If competing essays are otherwise of equal quality, preference will be given to those dealing with topics related to the history of Congregationalism. Complete manuscripts in final form, fully annotated, must be in the hands of Professor R. W. Allright, 1504 Palm Street, Reading, Pa., by June 1, 1953. There must be two copies, a typescript and a first carbon, on standard weight paper, double-spaced, with a left-hand margin of at least an inch and one-half. The prize-winning essay will be announced at the Annual Meeting of the Society in December, 1953.

The Anabaptist View of the Church

By Franklin H. Littell. Price $2.50

This long-awaited Brewer Prize Essay of the American Society of Church History is now coming from the press.

The new Dean of the Chapel of Boston University has made a major contribution to the expanding literature on the Left Wing of the Reformation. By using largely neglected sources, Dr. Littell has illuminated the origins of "sectarian" Protestantism and cut through the loose language about "enthusiasts," "spiritualists," and "mystics," still widely prevalent. The key to the understanding of the essence of Anabaptism he finds in their doctrine of the church, based on the effort to recover a primitive pattern. This very doctrine, moreover, has proved their most significant contribution to Protestantism as a whole. American ministers and historically-minded laymen will find here much illumination as to the origins of things they now take for granted.
