The Indian Economic and Social History Review offers scholars a major forum for the study of the social and economic history of India. Articles published also cover other Asian countries and provide comparative perspectives with a wider geographical spread. Bibliographical surveys, including surveys of materials in Indian languages, are a special feature.

IESHR occasionally publishes special issues which explore single topics or issues. The last special issue was entitled 'Survival, Politics and Work: Indian Women, 1880-1980'. In addition to research articles, the book review section often contains substantial review articles.

Articles published in 1986 include:

I D Mills: The 1918-19 Influenza Pandemic — The Indian Experience // Ranabir Chakravarti: Merchants of Konkan (c. AD1000-1500) // Prem Chowdhry: The Advantages of Backwardness // Ralph Shlomowitz: Infant Mortality and Fiji's Indian Migrants: 1879-1919 // Sanjay Subrahmanyam: Aspects of State Formation in South India and Southeast Asia, 1500-1650 // Rajat Datta: Merchants and Peasants: A Study of the Structure of Local Trade in Late Eighteenth Century Bengal // Joseph Brenning: Textile Producers in Late Seventeenth Century Coromandel // KumKum Banerjee: Grain Traders and the East India Company: Patna and its Hinterland in the Late Eighteenth and Early Nineteenth Century // Maria Augusta Lima Cruz: Exiles and Renegades in Early Sixteenth Century Portuguese India //

IESHR is published quarterly in March, June, September and December.

Contributions to Indian Sociology

Editor T N Madan, Institute of Economic Growth

Founded in 1957, Contributions to Indian Sociology is the pre-eminent forum for the presentation of research material on Indian and South Asian societies and cultures and for the discussion of different approaches to their study. This journal publishes neither purely theoretical essays nor purely ethnographic accounts but favours papers in which data and theory are mutually related. Occasionally papers dealing with themes of cross-civilisational significance, bringing in data from non-South Asian societies are also published.

Contributions to Indian Sociology is an indispensable and highly regarded forum for the understanding of South Asian society, culture and religion and provides theoretical insights applicable to the study of other developing societies as well.

The articles that have been published in the past two years include:

- Brahmin, king, sannyasi, and the goddess in a cage: Reflections on the conceptual order of Hinduism at a Tamil Saiva temple GLENN YOCUM
- Aspects of ritual in a school in south India MEENAKSHI THAPAN
- Caste in Islam and the problem of deviant systems: A critique of recent theory CHARLES LINDHOLM
- Reconstructions of the past among the Syrian Christians of Kerala SUSAN VISVANATHAN
- Child and childhood: A conceptual construction URVASHI MISRI

Contributions to Indian Sociology has also brought out two thematic issues entitled:

- The Word and the World: Fantasy, Symbol and Record
- The Contributions of Sri Lankan Scholars to Social Anthropology

Contributions to Indian Sociology is published biannually in May and November.

NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS

Modern Asian Studies is concerned with the history, geography, politics, sociology, literature, economics and social anthropology of South Asia, South-East Asia, China and Japan. Contributions should be based on original research or field-work.

All articles (text, notes and references) must be clearly typed in double spacing throughout on one side only of the paper—preferably A4. Two copies should be submitted. Spelling, dates, references and footnote numbers should be checked for accuracy. The use of diacritical marks, italics and capital letters should be kept to a minimum. References repeated in the footnotes should be by author and short title; or the Harvard system of citation may be used.

The title of the article and the author's name and affiliation should be typed on a separate page at the beginning of the article.

Tables should be clearly laid out and numbered consecutively. Vertical lines between columns should be omitted. All figures and totals should be checked for accuracy.

Maps and figures should be clearly legible in every detail. The spelling of place names should be consistent with that used in the text.

Every table, map and figure should have a title and at least one reference in the text to indicate its location.

First proofs only will be sent to the author who will be expected to return them to the Editor within three days. Excessive alterations and additions may be charged to the author.

Each author will receive twenty-five free offprints of his article and a copy of the part of the journal in which it appears.

Submission of an article will be taken to imply that it has not been previously published and that it is not on offer to any other publisher. In the interests of authors, copyrights is normally assigned to Cambridge University Press. The editor welcomes expression of all shades of opinion, but responsibility for them rests with their authors.

All correspondence should be addressed to Dr Gordon Johnson, Selwyn College, Cambridge CB3 9DG, England.
