Manuscripts

The China Quarterly welcomes the submission of manuscripts from scholars, including research students, on all aspects of contemporary China and from all points of view, including those which deal with Taiwan and the Overseas Chinese. Articles on China prior to 1949 are also welcome, particularly, but not exclusively, when these relate directly to contemporary China or to the history of the Chinese Communist Party. Articles should be submitted, in triplicate, to the editorial office. They should be typed in double spacing, footnotes being placed at the end of the article; preferably conform to the styling of The China Quarterly; and normally not exceed 8–10,000 words in length. Submission of a manuscript is taken to imply that it has not previously been published and that it is not currently being considered elsewhere.

The China Quarterly is published by the Contemporary China Institute of the School of Oriental and African Studies, London University. The views expressed in articles are those of individual authors and do not necessarily represent the views of the Contemporary China Institute.

Supervised by TAKEUCHI MINORU

毛泽东集

Compiled by a group of competent and dedicated specialists in Japan, this 16-volume set covers not only Mao's written works of all types (essays, correspondence, etc.), but also other diverse source materials such as transcripts of his conversations, minutes of conferences he presided over and documents he drafted behind the scenes. The collection goes far, far beyond the scope of the 4 volumes of official selected works, covering the same period, published in Beijing. Moreover, all the texts included are in their original, unaltered forms. There is no question whatsoever that this is the most comprehensive and meticulous collection ever published. The collection is absolutely essential to all serious students of modern China and all research libraries concerned with political revolutions and social changes of the 20th century.
— Professor Michael Y. M. Kau, Brown University
