

Civil and Defense Mobilization, second vice President; Howard Shuman, assistant to Senator Douglas, and Stephen Horn, assistant to Senator Kuchel, members of the Executive Council. H. Field Haviland, Jr., Brookings Institution continued as member of the Council. The Council appointed David W. Tarr, Library of Congress, as secretary-treasurer.

Administrators, planners, political scientists and sociologists from nine countries of South Asia met at the Indian Institute of Public Administration in New Delhi, 14 to 20 December, to discuss public administration problems of new and rapidly growing towns in the region. The seminar was sponsored by the United Nations and UNESCO which sent consultants from Poland, the United Kingdom and the U. S. A. to contribute to the debates. The Seminar was opened by Prime Minister Nehru, who recalled Henry George's "Progress and Poverty" as a useful proposal to control land speculation.

The Joint Directors of the seminar were Professor V. K. N. Menon, Director, Indian Institute of Public Administration, Indrapartha Estate, Ring Road, New Delhi, India and Mr. P. R. Nayak, then Commissioner, Delhi Municipal Corporation. Copies of the documents submitted to the seminar may be obtained from Prof. Menon. The Asian countries represented in the seminar were Ceylon, India, Indonesia, Japan, Pakistan, Singapore, Thailand and Vietnam. The consultants were Mrs. Elizabeth Layton, Housing Economist, U. K., Professor Julius Gorynski, Vice-Minister of Communal Affairs, Poland and Charles S. Ascher, Institute of Public Administration, U. S. A.

The International Institute of Administrative Sciences will convene a Round Table in Lisbon, Portugal, 11-16 September, 1961. Three themes will be debated: Experience with Technical Assistance (for which G. Wm. Lawson of ICA has prepared the U. S. report); Government Organization for Economic Development (for which a U. S. report has been prepared by Gerhard Colm of the National Planning Association and Harvey S. Perloff of Resources for the Future, Inc., and a report on Puerto Rico by Martin Clapp); and Official Publications as an element of Public Relations of the Administrator. Further details about participation may be obtained from Robert J. M. Matteson, American Society for Public Administration, 6042 South Kimbark Avenue, Chicago 37, Illinois.

The 1st General Assembly of the Eastern Regional Organization for Public Administration took place in Manila 5-10 December, 1960. The Assembly attracted more than 80 delegates and observers from 12 Asian countries and international governmental and non-governmental organizations. The organizing secretary, Dr. Carlos P. Ramos, Director of the Philippines Institute of Public Administration, was able to announce on the opening day the formal entrance of Japan as the fifth State member so that under the Provisional Constitution EROPA came into being as a duly organized international body. The other State Members are Australia, Republic of China, Philippines and the Republic of Vietnam. The delegate of Thailand announced at Manila that the Council of Ministers of the Government of Thailand had decided on the adherence of Thailand as a State Member.

Group members of the EROPA include the Indian Institute of Public Administration, the Indonesian Institute of National Administration, the University of Hong Kong, the Korean Association of Public Administration, the Vietnamese Association for Administrative Research and several professional societies in the Philippines.

The theme of the 1st General Assembly was "Strengthening Local Administration for Economic and Social Development." Three working groups discussed papers submitted by rappor-teurs: "Central Services to Local Government": Professor Prajudi Atmosudirjo, Indonesia; "Problems of Local Autonomy": Dr. Franklin Chi Ch'ing Yao, Republic of China; "Government Administration of Rural Development": Dean Dongwon Kim, Republic of Korea.

The Assembly elected an executive council of seven. Five of these represent State Members: Republic of China, Dr. Franklin Chi Ch'ing Yao; Philippines, Hon. Serafin Salvador; Republic of Vietnam, Rector Vu Quoc Thong. For Australia and Japan Council Members are to be appointed by the several governments. Group members represented on the Executive Council are the Indian Institute of Public Administration, Prof. V. K. N. Menon and Indonesian National Institute of Administration, Prof. Prajudi Atmosudirjo.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Paul C. Bartholomew, professor of political science at the University of Notre Dame, was visiting lecturer during the winter and spring quarters, 1961, at University College, University of Chicago.

James S. Coleman, Russell Fitzgibbon, and

David A. Wilson of the UCLA department of political science, together with Wendell Bell of the department of sociology and Professor Robert Baldwin of the department of economics have received a grant from the Carnegie Corporation to support a five year study of the phenomenon of political change. The study will focus on such areas of rapid change as Africa, Latin America, the West Indies and Southeast Asia.

Geoffrey Y. Cornog, assistant professor in political science at Michigan State University has been appointed Staff Editor of the Public Administration Review and publications officer of the American Society for Public Administration.

Edward Dawson, formerly of the department of government and politics at the University of Maryland, has accepted an appointment as executive director of the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission.

Lowell C. Day, formerly at the University of Pittsburgh, joined the staff of Baldwin-Wallace College as assistant professor of political science, effective September, 1960.

Rowland Egger, chairman, department of foreign affairs and political science, of the University of Virginia, has been awarded the Haldane Prize by the Royal Institute of Public Administration for 1960.

Alona E. Evans of the department of political science at Wellesley College will participate in the Fulbright Institute on Indian Civilization to be held at Osmania University in Hyderabad in July and August of 1961.

W. O. Farber, who has been on leave since August 1 to serve as minority counsel for the Senate Subcommittee on National Policy Machinery, returned to his position as chairman of the department of government, State University of South Dakota, effective the second semester.

Alfred P. Fernbach, associate professor of the University of Virginia department of foreign affairs has been granted a leave of absence for the academic year 1961-1962 to accept a Fulbright grant to teach in India.

Wesley R. Fischel, professor of political science at Michigan State University has been awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship to do research on the re-emergence of Japan in Southeast Asia, during 1961-62. He has also been appointed visiting professor of government at the University of Hawaii for the summer of 1961.

J. A. C. Grant of UCLA was recently elected to the National Academy of Arbitrators.

Leslie P. Green of the University of the Witwatersrand, formerly research officer to the Johannesburg City Council and Simon Senior Research Fellow at the University of Manchester, 1957-58, is visiting professor of political science at the Maxwell Graduate School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University.

John Perry Horlacher, chairman of political science, University of Pennsylvania, will serve as chairman of an Industry Committee under the Fair Labor Standards Act to set minimum wage rates for the glove, leather, and tobacco industries in Puerto Rico during the month of April.

The Department of State lately announced that Roger Hilsman was appointed as director of the Bureau of Intelligence and Research.

Ronald F. Howell, department of political science, Emory University, has been awarded a Rockefeller Grant to pursue research in contemporary French political and legal philosophy from June 1, 1961 to January 1, 1962. Part of the time will be spent in France.

During 1960-61, Samuel P. Huntington occupied the Ford Rotating Research Professorship in the department of public law at Columbia.

Jerome G. Kerwin of the University of Chicago will retire on October 1, 1961. He will be visiting professor of political science at Stanford University in the spring and summer quarters 1961.

Robert J. Koblitz, associate professor of government at Bard College, has been granted a leave of absence from January 1961 to September 1962 to serve as associate director of the study of the Federal government and higher education. The two-year study is being conducted under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Gertrude Leighton, associate professor of political science at Bryn Mawr College, will take a leave of absence during 1961-62 in order to join the Institute of Legal Research at the Law School of the University of Pennsylvania where she will be associate research professor in law and psychiatry.

Under a grant from the Carnegie Corporation, the Asian Studies Committee of the University of Michigan has appointed Martin D. Lewis of Baldwin-Wallace College, Dale Riepe of the University of North Dakota, and L. C. Wright of the Women's College, University of North Carolina, as faculty interns in Asian studies for the academic year 1960-61.

Stuart A. MacCorkle, director of the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Texas, has returned from the University of Seoul, Korea, where he was engaged in the organization of the School of Public Administration.

Charles B. McLane of the department of government at Dartmouth College held an appointment as visiting professor at the Graduate School of International Studies, Geneva, in 1960-61. Professor McLane has also been awarded a SEATO Fellowship for research in South East Asia.

Joseph F. Menez, chairman of the department of political science, Loyola University, Chicago, received a Fulbright grant to lecture in Peru for 1960-61. He lectured at the National Universities of Trujillo, Cuzco, and Arequipa.

Richard E. Neustadt continued through the spring term to serve in Washington as advisor to President Kennedy on government organization.

James R. Roach of the government department at the University of Texas has been appointed Fulbright lecturer in political science at Rajasthan University, Jaipur, India, for the 1961-62 academic year.

Robert Scigliano, associate professor of political science at Michigan State University has been awarded Rockefeller and Ford grants to conduct research in political development in Vietnam.

Kurt Shell, currently assistant professor at Harpur College, has accepted an invitation from the Free University of Berlin to undertake a research project on the 1962 Berlin elections and to lecture on comparative politics.

Frank J. Sorauf, associate professor of political science, Pennsylvania State University was visiting associate professor, department of government, University of Arizona for the 1960-61 academic year, replacing Professor Bernard Hennesy who is on special leave as associate director of the Citizenship Clearing House.

Arnold S. Trebach, assistant professor of political science, University of Tennessee went on leave and joined the staff of the United States Commission on Civil Rights on July 25, 1960. He was promoted to chief of the Administration of Justice Section of the Commission on August 15, 1960, and is currently directing the study of discrimination in the operation of police agencies and of the courts in the United States.

Paul W. van der Veur, University of Hawaii, has been granted a two-year leave to serve as a senior research fellow in the New Guinea Research Unit of the Australian National University at Canberra. He will be engaged in library and field research on the political development of Australian and Netherlands New Guinea.

Manfred C. Vernon of the University of Alabama is on leave of absence during the current academic year and is serving as a Fulbright Fellow at the University of Ankara, Ankara, Turkey.

Joseph Zimmerman of Worcester Polytechnic Institute has been elected president of the Citizen's Plan E Association. He is also consultant for the Massachusetts Commission on Atomic Energy.

For inclusion in a special report to be published in Labor History, anyone doing research in the field of American labor history is asked to write to Professor Albert A. Blum, Labor and Industrial Relations Center, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan, giving his name, organizational association, and tentative title of the study as well as a brief description of it.

The Institute for American Universities in Aix-en-Provence has a rotating lectureship in International Relations, to which American university faculty members are invited annually. The appointment and modest stipend may be of interest to faculty members on sabbatical leave, on research grants or in retirement. Aix-en-Provence has good research facilities and the Institute is developing an active program of Contemporary European Studies. Further information concerning the Institute and prior visiting lecturers may be found in the Institute's catalogue, which is available in most university libraries or by writing directly to the Director, at 21 rue Gaston de Saporta, Aix-en-Provence.

APPOINTMENT AND STAFF CHANGES

Richard Bardolph has been made chairman of the political science department at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

A. Doak Barnett of the Ford Foundation has accepted an appointment as associate professor of government at Columbia University and member of the staff of the East Asian Institute, with responsibility for work on the politics of contemporary China.

Willard A. Beling, formerly of Harvard University, has been appointed professor of international relations at the University of Southern California.

Eliot S. Berkley, formerly dean of administration at the Kansas City Art Institute and School of Design, has been appointed vice-president for development.

David A. Booth, has joined the department of political science at Michigan State University as an assistant professor.

P. Allan Dionisopoulos of Indiana University accepted an appointment, effective September 1, 1960, as assistant professor, department of government, University of Arizona.

JeDon Emenhiser, who has served this past year as instructor in political science at the Redlands University, has accepted an appointment for 1960-61 at Utah State University as instructor in political science.

Henry W. Ehrmann, formerly of the University of Colorado, has been appointed professor of government at Dartmouth College.

George Fischer, formerly of Brandeis University, has been appointed research associate of the center for international studies, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.