Recent books from Gaskell

Consent and the Incompetent Patient. Edited by Stephen R. Hirsch and John Harris. The conflict between the need to protect vulnerable patients from unwarranted research and treatment on the one hand, and to ensure that they receive the treatment they need and that helpful research is pursued on the other, is discussed by barristers, psychiatrists and representatives of patients. ISBN 0 902241 22 2, 101 pp, £7.50.

Aspects of Autism: Biological Research. Edited by Lorna Wing. The evidence for a physical cause for autism is extensively reviewed, and the roles of endogenous opioids, genetics, serotonin, urinary peptide metabolites, intrauterine cytomegalovirus plus antibodies, and magnesium + vitamin B6, folates and fenfluramine are examined. ISBN 0 902241 25 7, 120 pp, £7.50.

Interviewing the Sexually Abused Child. By David P. H. Jones and Mary G. McQuiston. This guide for those who need to know whether a child has been sexually abused focuses on the evaluative interview, giving guidelines on its structure, discussing the use of language, free play, toys and play materials, and examining the importance of interviewer style. ISBN 0 902241 23 0, 56 pp, £4.50.

Drug Scenes. A report on drugs and drug dependence by the Royal College of Psychiatrists. This report lays out the facts on the nature and causes of addiction, describes the wide range of problems which can arise from misuse of different substances, debates a series of contentious issues, and puts forward a set of challenging recommendations. ISBN 0 902241 18 4, 226 pp, £5.95.

Behaviour Problems in Mental Handicap. By Kenneth Day, Joyce Hamilton and Paul Smith. The literature on this subject is wildly diverse in approach and content, and computer searches are of little use because of the problems of definition and categorisation involved. This comprehensive bibliography presents the literature in an annotated form which will be of use to practitioners, service planners, trainers and researchers. ISBN 0 902241 20 6, 144 pp, £7.50.

Psychiatric Beds and Resources: Factors Influencing Bed Use and Service Planning. By a Working Party of the Royal College of Psychiatrists (Chairman S. R. Hirsch). This report reviews the literature and presents important new data showing a close relationship between social factors and the uptake of psychiatric services. An approach to planning, based on analysis of service provision, utilisation, and potential demand, is demonstrated. ISBN 0 902241 21 4, 82 pp, £7.50.
