
The Oxford Dictionary of the Christian Church

Edited by F. L. Cross

Second edition revised by F. L. Cross and E. A. Livingstone

On its publication in 1957 The Oxford Dictionary of the Christian Church immediately established itself as an indispensable reference work. However, the Second Vatican Council initiated a whole process of change in the Roman Catholic Church which has had far-reaching repercussions in other communions. Moreover, there have been many ecumenical developments in recent years; and new personalities have come to the fore. For all these reasons a new edition is now needed. The work of revision has involved a critical review of the entire existing text and its amendment wherever the advance of scholarship seemed to call for it. The book has been completely reset. A new feature is the chronological list of Popes. Second edition £13.50

Gnosis

A Selection of Gnostic Texts

Volume II: Coptic and Mandaic Sources

Werner Foerster

English translation edited by R. McL. Wilson

The first volume of this book contained a comprehensive selection of texts relating to Gnosticism, mainly from patristic sources. This second volume presents a selection of original Gnostic material, drawn partly from the Nag Hammadi Gnostic library and partly from the literature of Mandaism. Some of these texts have not hitherto been available in English, and no other single volume offers so extensive a coverage. £7.50

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published in English, or is not being considered by another journal for publication in English. In the interests of authors, copyright is normally assigned to the Scottish Academic Press. The average length of articles is 5000 words. Although longer articles are accepted, those in excess of 10,000 words cannot be considered.

Contributions (articles and reviews) should be clearly typed in double spacing, and on one side of the paper only. The rule about double spacing applies also to footnotes, which should be used sparingly. Cross-references within the article offered should not be included.

Notes for the editors and instructions for the printer should be attached on separate sheets. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for use in correcting proofs.

Contributors from the United States may use U.S. spellings. Greek and Hebrew words need not be transliterated. Capitalisation should be kept to a minimum; and in particular should not be used in pronouns referring to the Deity.

First proofs of articles and article reviews may be read and corrected by contributors, and should normally be returned to the organising editor within ten days of receipt. Correction should be confined to errors of the printer. More extensive correction can be made only with the concurrence of an editor. No proofs of reviews will be sent.

Contributors of articles and article reviews (but not of reviews) receive 10 free offprints. Extra copies may be bought according to an agreed scale of charges, provided that these are ordered at the time of returning corrected proofs.
