NEW TITLE!

Studies in Practical Philosophy

A Journal of Ethical and Political Philosophy

Edited by Jennifer Hansen, Michael Collins Hughes and Malck Moazzam-Doulat
State University of New York at Stony Brook
ISSN 1389-0506

Studies in Practical Philosophy is dedicated to opening up new spaces for political and social engagement. Its goal is to make evident the ethical and political force of Continental thought as it bears on current social problems. This evolutionary thinking strives to engender dialogue with analytic philosophers who hold common, practical concerns. Moreover, this publication challenges the traditional theory/practice dichotomy, with a view to a more dynamic and interactive model. Instead of seeing the realms of theory and practice as separate and distinct, Studies in Practical Philosophy investigates the reciprocal transformation of practical engagement and theoretical systems.
