

BEDFORD/ST. MARTIN'S

you get more | bedfordstmartins.com

New editions for introductory courses

bedfordstmartins.com/meyerpoetry/catalog

“Poetry is my top pick for teaching an introductory course because it makes poetry accessible through a simple demystification process, inviting students to become active participants and co-creators.”

— Emily Bobo, Ivy Tech Community College

“Vendler writes beautifully and analyzes texts beautifully. Her writing — so smart, so lucid — is the reason that I have kept using this book.”

— Ann R. Hawkins, Texas Tech University

bedfordstmartins.com/vendler/catalog bedfordstmartins.com/250poems/catalog

Also available

250 Poems
A Portable Anthology
Second Edition

Peter Schakel and Jack Ridl, both of Hope College

Literary Studies from Chicago

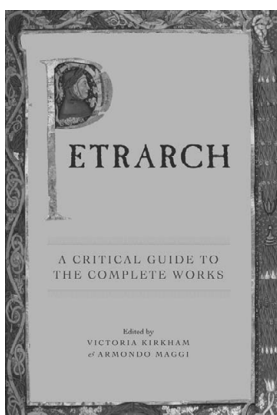

THE SOUND OF POETRY / THE POETRY OF SOUND Edited by Marjorie Perloff and Craig Dworkin

“This collection assembles a brilliant group of scholars, poets, and translators, many of whom qualify in all three fields, to discuss what until recently was a surprisingly neglected topic, the value of sound in the creation of poetic meaning. . . . Highly intelligent, wonderfully readable, and accessible. collection that will be essential for anyone interested in what is happening now in literary studies, poetics, and at the sonic edge of articulation.”—Peter Middleton, University of Southampton
PAPER $26.00

INFIDEL POETICS Riddles, Nightlife, Substance Daniel Tiffany

“Tiffany exemplifies what the best critics since Coleridge have understood: that literary reflection is a spiritual discipline on the boundaries of methodological enlightenment, demanding enormous erudition, but also, indispensably, an openness to thinking as event. . . . If you think ‘theory’ is dead or that criticism in the grand style can no longer speak to our times, you must read Infidel Poetics.”—Gordon Teskey, Harvard University
PAPER $24.00

PETRARCH A Critical Guide to the Complete Works Edited by Victoria Kirkham and Armando Maggi

“Victoria Kirkham and Armando Maggi have given the English-speaking world a richly-textured intellectual and artistic portrait of Petrarch that will engross both the novice and the seasoned petrarchista.”—P. M. Forni, John Hopkins University
CLOTH $50.00

CONTINENTAL DIVIDES Remapping the Cultures of North America Rachel Adams

“North America’s borders undergo a sharp transnational turn in Continental Divides as Rachel Adams powerfully explores the indigenous geographies, runaway slave routes, artistic circuits, alternate mappings, improbable alliances, and multisited practices that complicate geopolitical cartographies. This is a wonderful book.”—Diana Taylor, New York University
PAPER $25.00

MANLY LOVE Romantic Friendship in American Fiction Axel Nissen

“This is the most interesting and original study of nineteenth-century American literature and culture that I have read in years. In the wake of Manly Love, the field will never look quite the same. Nissen has trumped nearly every other scholar in recapturing and elucidating some fundamental patterns of American Victorian culture.”—John W. Crowley, University of Alabama
CLOTH $45.00

SHAKESPEARE ONLY Jeffrey Knapp

“Shakespeare Only is a decisive and brilliant advance in our understanding of Shakespeare and of his literary culture. The book sweeps away many widespread misconceptions about Renaissance authorship and provides detailed evidence for the ways Elizabethan and Jacobean readers and audiences actually thought about the creators of the plays they enjoyed.”—Stephen Greenblatt
CLOTH $35.00

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS • www.press.uchicago.edu

