

Mediaeval Texts and Books Dealing with
THE MIDDLE AGES
THE RENAISSANCE
CLASSICAL ANTIQUITY

LATEST CATALOGUES

158. History of Science
159. Bibliography
160 & 161. Classical Antiquity
162. Middle Ages
163. Renaissance

will be sent upon request

WILLIAM SALLOCH Old, Rare & Scholarly Books
142 Seventh Avenue South, New York 14, New York

Jonson and the Comic Truth

by John J. Enck

A major contribution that revitalizes with brilliant insight an important body of literature by exploring the plays in detail, isolating Jonson's dramatic genius, and tracing its successive ramifications. Mr. Enck makes a comprehensive and astute study of Jonson's language, imagery, structure, characterization, costume and disguise, stage conventions and sources.

November 15, 1957
296 pages, $5.00

THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN PRESS
430 Sterling Court, Madison 6, Wisconsin

ROBERT HERNDON FIFE

The Revolt of Martin Luther

'One of the most notable American products of the current revival of interest in Martin Luther and the Protestant Reformation is this biography which traces the Reformer's life up to his departure from the Diet of Worms in 1521.'—The Lutheran $9.75

MILLARD MEISS

Andrea Mantegna as Illuminator

Two illuminated codices, among the most beautiful paintings con-signed to vellum during the quattrocento, are here attributed to Man-tegna and his assistants. 'Professor Meiss is one of the most articulate of present-day writers on Italian painting, and his admirably written text offers a fascinating reconstruction of the historical background of the manuscripts.'—Times Literary Supplement $6.50

WALTER FRIEDLAENDER

Mannerism and Anti-Mannerism in Italian Painting

These concise and provocative essays constitute the first basic study of two major styles of painting in sixteenth-century Italy. In them Professor Friedlaender presents Mannerism and Anti-Mannerism as distinct, autonomous movements, and establishes their aesthetic and historic importance. $4.00

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY PRESS New York 27, N.Y.