For a Special Issue of the European Journal of Sociology
to be published in 2022

---

The European Journal of Sociology is pleased to invite proposals for a special issue to be published in 2022.

The European Journal of Sociology (EJS) is a peer-reviewed general sociology journal, founded in 1960 by prominent European scholars and intellectuals such as Raymond Aron, Ralf Dahrendorf, Tom Bottomore, Michel Crozier and Éric de Dampierre. EJS embraces the scientific ambitions of the historical and modern classics of the discipline and publishes original empirical and theoretical articles from all areas of sociology. The journal invites especially the submission of manuscripts concerned with the economy, the state, religion, law, science, politics, technology, and culture. Over the course of its history, EJS has developed a reputation for comparative and historical research and a keen interest in the evolution and diversity of cultures, civilizations, and institutions. The journal welcomes innovative qualitative and quantitative research and encourages sociologically informed contributions from anthropologists, economists, political scientists, historians, legal scholars, and philosophers. EJS aims at advancing theoretical debates in the discipline, disseminating sociological research from European countries, and enhancing interaction between European and non-European sociology.

Proposals for the special issue should contain the following information:

1. The names, contact details and positions of proposed guest editor(s) together with brief biographical details.
2. A title for the proposed special issue.
3. A three pages summary indicating the main theme, key topics, and methodological foci of potential contributions for the special issue. The outline should contain the rationale behind the special issue, its planned scope, its innovative nature and its likely relevance to readers of the European Journal of Sociology. Please provide a list containing a short abstract of any contribution you intend to invite and information regarding the interest of the authors.

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

Key information to potential guest editors

1. A special issue consists of about five to seven research articles and an introduction from the guest editor(s). The issue can have up to 70,000 words.
2. The editors of the European Journal of Sociology will assess proposals for the special issue. Once accepted, guest editors will be responsible for soliciting the articles and for organizing the double blind review process. Once submitted to the editorial office, the completed issue will be discussed by the editors of the European Journal of Sociology. The editors may ask for further revisions and, in exceptional cases, reserve the right to reject a paper.
3. Guest editors will work according to the following time table:
  - a. June 1, 2020: Submit proposal to the European Journal of Sociology.
  - b. July 1, 2020: Decision by the editors on the special issue. The guest editors are informed.
  - c. June 1, 2021: All articles for the special issue must be submitted to the guest editors.
  - d. January 1, 2022: Completion of peer review process. Submission of issue to the editors of the European Journal of Sociology.
  - e. February 1, 2022: Approval of special issue by editors, possible revisions.
  - f. May 1, 2022: The special issue is submitted to the publisher of the European Journal of Sociology.
