

Notes on Contributors

Joel J. Kupperman

JJK is Board of Trustees Professor of Philosophy at the University of Connecticut. His Theories of Human Nature, East and West will be published this fall.

John Kekes

John Kekes' most recent book, The Human Condition, will be published by Oxford University Press in 2010. He can be contacted at jonkekes@nycap.rr.com

István Aranyosi

István Aranyosi is an assistant professor in the Department of Philosophy at Bilkent University, Ankara. His recent research has focused on the mind-body problem and on the ontology and perception of shadows. He specializes in metaphysics and philosophy of mind. Some of his articles and reviews have appeared in Acta Analytica, The Monist, Mind, International Journal of Philosophical Studies, and Australasian Journal of Philosophy.

Tim Heysse

Tim Heysse is Associate Professor at the Institute of Philosophy of the University of Leuven and is a senior researcher with RIPPLE (Research in Political Philosophy Leuven). From 1995 till 2004 he worked as a clerk minuting the sessions of the Flemish Regional Parliament. He has published (with Stefan Rummens and Ronald Tinnevelt) a book in Dutch on Habermas's discourse theory of democracy and law. His publications in English include articles on theory of argumentation and deliberative democracy.

K. L. Evans and K. Steslow

K. L. Evans, Associate Professor of English at Yeshiva University in New York City, is the author of Whale! (A Wittgensteinian reading of Moby-Dick), the forthcoming The Missing Limb, and essays on literature and philosophy.

Notes on Contributors

K. Steslow is a doctoral candidate in Bioethics at the University of Otago, New Zealand.

Tony Lynch

Tony Lynch is Senior Lecturer in Philosophy and Politics at the University of New England, Armidale. His most recent book (with Adrian Walsh) is The Morality of Money: an Exploration in Analytic Philosophy (Palgrave Macmillan, 2008).