
The Chronology of Oral Tradition

Quest for a Chimera

David P. Henige

Chronology is probably the weakest aspect of oral historical materials. The author discusses the various processes by which oral chronology can be distorted and explains the circumstances which promote and facilitate distortion, arguing that the data are not susceptible to quantification. £4.75 Oxford Studies in African Affairs

Pan-Africanism and Nationalism in West Africa 1900-1945

A Study in Ideology and Social Classes

J. Ayodele Langley

This is the first detailed study of the origins of Pan-African politics in West Africa and also of Nationalist and social classes there during the inter-war period. Of particular interest are the author's rediscovery of the francophone African contribution to Pan-Africanism, and his analysis of the reception of Black American ideologies in West Africa. £6.50 Oxford Studies in African Affairs

Ethiopia

Anatomy of a Traditional Polity

John Markakis

This account of the complex interactions between the traditional and the modern elements in the polity and society of Ethiopia concentrates on the historical, cultural, social, and economic forces that determine the distribution and uses of political power. The long and controversial reign of Haile Selassie is astutely analysed. £6.50 Oxford Studies in African Affairs

Ohaffia

A Matrilineal Ibo People

Philip O. Nsugbe

This is an ethnographic study of a frontier Ibo people in south-eastern Nigeria whose social organization differs significantly from the more familiar forms found among the main Ibo groupings. The emphasis is on distinctive elements of Ohaffia kinship and marriage. £2.10 Oxford Monographs on Social Anthropology

Oxford

Gods and Heroes

Oral Tradition of the Gurage of Ethiopia

Translated and edited by William A. Shack and Habte-Mariam Marcos

This collection of praise chants to gods and warrior-heroes stresses the sociological and literary themes through which are manifested the underlying assumptions the Gurage hold about man, nature, the spirit world, and the universe of things. It also illustrates the range of stylistic creativity in Gurage literary prose. £3.75 Oxford Library of African Literature

An Introduction to the History of Central Africa

A. J. Wills

This replaces the second edition published five years ago. The sections on pre-history and the Iron Age in Mashonaland have been revised in the light of recent research, and a new final chapter discusses developments in Rhodesia and Zambia since 1965. Third edition £4 paper covers £2.50

African Encyclopedia

This is a single-volume encyclopaedia centred on subjects of African interest. Each African country has its own article, and there are separate articles on African peoples, languages, historic empires, and on contemporary writers, artists, and leading political figures. A very wide range of subjects is treated from an African viewpoint. Illustrated £4 paper covers £1.50

An Introduction to Benin Art and Technology

Philip J. C. Dark

This book provides the first brief, comprehensive introduction to the art of Benin and the craft of the Edo artist. It reviews the history of the development of the art from the fifteenth century to the present and discusses some of its masterpieces from a Western point of view before considering the context in which the art is produced. Illustrated £8.50

Fort Jesus

A Portuguese Fortress on the East African Coast

James Kirkman

Fort Jesus, Mombasa, is the most remarkable historical monument on the coast of Kenya. It was built by the Portuguese in 1593 and has retained its ground plan unchanged since 1636. This is an account of what was found during excavations between 1958 and 1971. The most striking features are the passages leading down to the outwork and the sea front, and a collection of sketches of ships and other subjects on the plastered wall of one of the bastions. Illustrated £12.50

Oxford

Black Slaves in Britain

F. O. Shyllon

By a careful reconstruction of legal cases and an examination of the attitudes and personalities of many of the figures involved, the author demonstrates how acceptable slavery was in Britain near the turn of the eighteenth century. He shows also that it was economic rather than moral considerations that led ultimately to the abolition of slavery. Illustrated £4.50 Institute of Race Relations

Chronology of African History

G. S. P. Freeman-Grenville

This is a comprehensive chronology in tabular form, setting out the known or approximate date of every important event in African history between c. 1000 BC and 31 December 1971. It enables the reader to see at a glance the course of events in different regions of Africa, as well as the main events in the rest of the world. £5

Railways and the Copper Mines of Katanga

S. E. Katzenellenbogen

Big business and the Governments of Belgium, Britain, Germany, France, Portugal, and South Africa became involved in the Katanga copper mines and in the railways built to link them to coastal ports. Individuals exerted great influence on the course of events, most prominently Robert Williams, whose vision and tenacity of purpose made possible the completion of the Benguela Railway against tremendous odds. £3.75 Oxford Studies in African Affairs

Pan-Africanism from Within

Ras Makonnen

Edited by Kenneth King

Ras Makonnen was born George Nathaniel Griffith in British Guiana at the beginning of this century. This is his account of pan-Africanism, as conceived in the thirties and forties. It is a personal record, for Makonnen took part, together with people like Padmore Nkrumah, in regenerating pan-Africanism; he feels its failure deeply, though he still has faith in the possibility of a United Africa. Illustrated £2.25 OUP East Africa

The Sword of Truth

The Life and Times of the Shehu Usuman Dan Fodio

Mervyn Hiskett

In the late 18th and early 19th centuries, an Islamic revolutionary movement arose in Hausaland that was to transform both government and society in that region. At its centre was Shehu Usuman Dan Fodio, whose views and achievements continue to influence life in present day Nigeria. Illustrated £3.45 paper covers £1.10 OUP New York

Colonialism in Africa 1870-1960

Volume V: A Bibliographical Guide to Colonialism in Sub-Saharan Africa

Edited by PETER DUIGNAN and L. H. GANN

A major work of bibliographic reference for all researchers concerned with the historical, political, sociological and related problems of colonialism in Africa from about 1870 to 1960. The remarkable range of written material produced during the colonial period is reflected in the wide range of subjects covered: anthropology, law, economics, religion, geography, linguistics, ethnography, as well as such subjects as biology, botany, medicine, natural science and geology. The inter-disciplinary character will make this a unique and indispensable guide for all specialists in colonial Africa.

China's Policy in Africa 1958-1971

ALABA OGUNSANWO

A meticulously researched and incisive examination of a subject which has often been submerged in propaganda. Dr Ogunsanwo traces in great detail the phases and development of Chinese policy in Africa, diplomatic, military, economic, social and cultural relations over the whole of the continent from 1958 to 1971. He concludes with a discussion of Nixon's visit to Peking and its implications for Africa.

Islam and Tribal Art in West Africa

RENÉ A. BRAVMANN

Most writers have assumed that the spread of the Islamic faith has tended to weaken and undermine the foundations of traditional African society and culture. In this interesting and original study Dr Bravmann re-examines and refutes the assumption that the aniconic attitudes of Islam, especially the prohibition of representational imagery, have had a detrimental effect on the visual arts in the areas of West Africa influenced by this universalistic faith.

A History of the Maghrib

JAMIL M. ABUN-NASR

'The appearance of the first complete history of North Africa in English is an important event.'

Bulletin of the School of Oriental and African Studies

'Professor Abun-Nasr's study is unique; it is the only book in English which attempts to describe the history of the Maghrib from prehistoric times to the achievement of independence in the mid-1900s . . . This work can be recommended as a good, detailed introduction to the history of the Maghrib.'

MICROFILM SERIES
AFRICAN TERRITORIES

A series of microfilm publications containing government publications relating to African countries will be released over the next six years by EP Microform in conjunction with the African Studies Association of the United Kingdom. The series will cover the periods prior to the independence of the countries, and each publication will contain material designed to provide a comprehensive coverage of Annual Reports, Government Gazettes and statistical Blue Books for each country in addition to other significant documents selected by an editor with expert knowledge of the territory concerned. The series will consist of separate sets of microfilms relating to the following countries:

Country	Publication date	Country	Publication date
Uganda	Published	Cape Colony	March-October 1977
Gold Coast	May 1974	Orange River Colony	December 1977
Nigeria	December 1974	Transvaal Colony	March 1978
Sierra Leone	March 1975	Northern Rhodesia	June 1978
Gambia	June 1975	Malawi	December 1978
Tanganyika and Zanzibar	December 1975	Southern Rhodesia	June 1979
Bechuanaland Protectorate	March 1976	Kenya	December 1979
Basutoland	June 1976	Sudan	June 1980
Swaziland	August 1976
Natal Colony	October 1976- January 1977

A summary of the contents of each set of microfilms will be available a few months before its publication and a detailed synopsis will also be available prior to its release. Each set of microfilms will be prefaced by an introductory essay written by the editor, and this will be contained in a separate printed pamphlet which will accompany the publication to which it relates. Please write to the address below if you wish to be kept informed of the progress of the series. Those already on the EP mailing list will be informed automatically.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions to the Journal are welcomed. They may be submitted in either English or French. They should not exceed about 6000 words (excluding footnotes), except with the prior approval of the Editors. A summary of the contents of the article, not exceeding about 300 words in length, should be attached on a separate sheet. Contributors are asked to observe closely the conventions listed in the Notes for Contributors, inside the back cover of the last issue. It is essential that contributors observe these conventions, as the Journal now goes straight into page proof. This severely limits the number of corrections which are possible.

Page proofs will be sent, if necessary by airmail, to each contributor (or his nominee) provided that the Editors have been given an address through which he can be reached without delay. Corrections should be kept to the minimum, and should be corrections, not new material. If they are to be incorporated in the master proof corrected by the Editors, it is important that the contributor should return the page proofs, by airmail if necessary, to the Editor named when they are sent out (and not to the Cambridge University Press), within ten days of his receipt of them.

Contributors of articles and review articles receive 25 free separates. Additional separates may be obtained at reasonable cost, provided that they are ordered before publication on the special form sent out with the galley proofs.

All contributions and books for review should be addressed to The Editors, The Journal of African History, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, London, W.C.1.

The Journal of African History: Volumes 2, 3, and 4

Cambridge University Press apologizes for the delay in publication of Volume XV, Number 2 of the Journal. Unfortunately, Numbers 3 and 4 will also be published later than originally announced, Number 3 appearing in November 1974 and Number 4 in February 1975. It is hoped that Volume XVI (1975) will be published on the usual quarterly schedule. The Press regrets any inconvenience these delays may cause to subscribers.
