ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE 27TH ANNUAL MEETING

The 27th Annual Meeting of the Society for American Archaeology will be held in Tucson, Arizona, May 3, 4, 5, 1962. The University of Arizona is the host institution, and all formal sessions of the meeting will be held on the campus. The program will consist of five symposia and as many topical and areal sessions as may be necessary to handle the volume of contributed papers. Organized field trips to archaeological sites in southern Arizona will be available following the meeting. William W. Wasley is Chairman of the Program Committee, and Raymond H. Thompson, Chairman of the Local Arrangements Committee.

The symposia are being arranged around the following topics: Hohokam archaeology in 1962 (plenary session), tree-ring dating throughout the world (sponsored by the Tree-Ring Society), history of metallurgy in Nuclear America, archaeological progress in the Intermediate Area, and problems of administration in emergency archaeology programs. The deadline for all papers is February 1, 1962. Contributors to the symposia must supply completed manuscripts before that date, and all other participants in the program must provide the following information: title, abstract of not more than 100 words, type of slides or other illustrative material, full details on projection equipment necessary, map and artifact display requirements, and any other special needs. The abstracts will be reproduced and distributed with the program. Maximum time allowed for contributed papers will be 20 minutes.

Note that no papers will be accepted for the program of the 27th Annual Meeting after February 1, 1962. Avoid disappointment and difficulties by respecting this deadline and by discussing any potential problems and delays with the Program Committee as soon as possible. Address all communications concerning the program to Wasley, Arizona State Museum, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona.

The Pioneer Hotel will serve as headquarters for the meeting. Reservations for rooms must be made directly with hotels and motels in Tucson. Further details on housing will be supplied at a later date.

The 28th Annual Meeting will be held at Boulder, Colorado, May, 1963, with the University of Colorado as host institution.
