The Scholarly Resources edition of the

HOUSE OF COMMONS SESSIONAL PAPERS OF THE EIGHTEENTH CENTURY

edited by Sheila Lambert

"After years of digging and sorting, searching and compiling, Sheila Lambert (Mrs. G. R. Elton), noted authority on 18th-century parliamentary procedure, has given us the complete collection of parliamentary papers, easily eclipsing the old 19th-century selections of the Abbot Collection. If her achievement can be compared with any, Lambert's is as thorough a compilation as the Blue Books for 19th-century parliaments, and it reveals a surprising range of parliamentary activity in reports covering trade, taxation, colonies, crime, religion, politics—all public and social concerns of the Hanoverians. Many volumes contain superb charts, maps, graphs, and architectural designs of as much interest to art historians as to social historians. There has never been and there will never be a collection quite as complete and indispensable. Lambert's introduction on parliamentary procedures for the first time explains how the House of Commons worked. Appropriate for college libraries; essential for graduate library holdings." – Choice
