Aims & scope

The European Journal of Archaeology – the international, peer-reviewed journal of the European Association of Archaeologists – aims to publish the best new archaeological research undertaken in and around Europe.

Articles cover a wealth of topics, ranging from major reviews of the prehistoric and historic archaeology of Europe and neighbouring regions, to reports on key archaeological discoveries set within a European context, to cutting-edge research and debates on science-based archaeology, archaeological method and theory, public archaeology and the history of archaeology, to interviews reflecting upon the life and work of significant European archaeologists. All articles are published with short, accessible abstracts in English, French and German.

Submission procedure

Articles must be submitted online at ejarch.edmgr.com

Detailed Instructions for Authors are located at www.maneyonline.com/eja.

Style

British spelling (as given in the Oxford English Dictionary) is used (e.g. irre not ire). For more information, please consult the European Journal of Archaeology style guide:

www.maneyonline.com/pb/assets/raw/ifaform/eja_styleguide.pdf

Referencing

The Author-Date System should be used for referencing in order to minimize the number of footnotes or endnotes. References in the text should be made within parentheses and include the surname of the author (unless the author already appears within the same paragraph), the publication date of the work and, where necessary, the page reference. Contributions should be followed by an alphabetical list of Works Cited, comprising only those sources actually cited in the text.

Publication Ethics Maney's copyright and ethics (including plagiarism) policies and best practice guidelines can be found at www.maneyonline.com/publishingethics.

Open Access policy Open Access  article publishing is offered for either gold (immediate) or green (delayed) open access subject to the conditions set out in the journal's Instructions for Authors at www.maneyonline.com/eja.
