

The Invention of Dante's "Commedia"

John G. Demaray

Centuries before and after Dante's composition of the Commedia, European pilgrims retraced the path of the Exodus to Jerusalem, and then voyaged to Rome. Here is a richly documented account of how these pilgrimages served as the figural model for Dante's pilgrimage beyond life in the Commedia. $12.50

The Formation of Islamic Art

Oleg Grabar

"It is a work of high distinction and major educational importance. The author has done a splendid analytical job in isolating the gradual emergence of uniquely Muslim characteristics during these early centuries. The book, I believe, will be indispensable to any course on Islamic art above the survey level."—H. W. Janson $17.50

The Middle East Studies Association of North America, Inc.

This association was founded in 1966 in order to promote high standards of scholarship in the field of Middle Eastern studies and to facilitate communication among scholars through meetings and publications. In addition to sponsoring the Journal, which is published for the Association by the Cambridge University Press, MESA publishes a Bulletin periodically, holds an Annual Conference, and provides other professional services for its members from time to time. Enquiries concerning membership, which includes subscription to the International Journal of Middle East Studies, should be addressed to: Headquarters and Secretariat, Middle East Studies Association, New York University, Washington Square, New York, N.Y. 10003, U.S.A. Fees are as follows: Fellows and associates, $20.00; students, $9.00; institutions, $30.00.

Notes for Contributors

Contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editor, Professor Stanford J. Shaw, Near Eastern Center, University of California, Los Angeles, California, 90024, U.S.A. Submission of an article implies that it has not been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere. In the interests of authors, copyright is normally assigned to the Cambridge University Press. Articles in English should conform with the Journal's transliteration system. Articles will be accepted and published in French and German, with the authors expected to follow the transliteration systems normally used in those languages. Care will be taken with manuscripts submitted, but the Editor cannot accept responsibility for any loss or damage which may take place. Contributors should keep at least one copy for use in correcting proofs. Contributors of articles and review articles receive 50 offprints. Extra copies may be purchased according to an agreed scale of charges.
